Ford Repeats Belief Nixon Will Be Cleared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford said Friday that the evidence to clear President Nixon of any wrongdoing in the Watergate affair already is in the hands of the courts and the special prosecutor.

Ford said he is confident the evidence will be made public, and said it will disprove statements by former Presidential counsel John Dean that Nixon was aware of a coverup.

Ford made the comments at a news conference in Ohio before a sports banquet at which he was honored.

The vice president declined to say what the evidence was. He said he turned down an offer by Nixon to see evidence because of the pressure it would put on him to make the information public.

But he said after personal conversations with the President, Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., and presidential adviser Bryce Harlow, that "the evidence... does exist, I'm convinced it does."

"I'm sure when it's brought to light, and it will be made public, that Mr. Dean will be shown in error," he said.

When asked why the President has not made the evidence public, Ford replied that the evidence "is in the hands of the courts and the special prosecutor." He said the judicial branch of prosecutor must decide on its release.

The vice president also said he is not convinced the erasure of 18 minutes of conversation on a key Watergate tape was deliberate. Experts have testified at least five different erasures were involved, and that they could not have occurred the way the President's lawyers have hypothesized.

"I think there is some dispute among other experts and I think we'll have to wait and see what Judge (John) Sirica decides," Ford said. "The court will make that decision, not I."

Ford was in Ohio to be honored by the Columbus Touchdown Club for his contribution to sports. He was once a center on the University of Michigan football team.

While Ford was at the banquet, about 100 protestors picketed outside, carrying signs urging the President's impeachment and chanting, "Throw the bum out."

The protestors were mostly young and stayed only about 45 minutes. They remained behind police barricades across the street from the hotel where the banquet was held.

It was not known whether the vice president knew of their presence. During the demonstration, he was at a private reception with other honorees in a side room on the hotel's second floor.

Rollback In Oil Prices Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration apparently is preparing to require a rollback in the price of propane and some domestically produced oil, but there is no indication of when or how much.

Federal energy chief William E. Simon was asked by reporters Friday if a rollback in oil prices is in prospect.

Simon replied: "There sure is," but quickly added he was referring only to so-called "new" oil which has been freed of price controls and is selling at $10.35 a barrel.

Also on Friday, Simon told the Senate permanent investigations subcommittee his Federal Energy Office "soon" would publish new regulations for propane which he hoped would bring about a "substantial reduction" in its price.

Propane, used extensively in agriculture, has increased as much as 300 per cent in price in recent months.

Asked when the administration might order an oil price rollback, Simon said Congress first had to act to give him the authority to control the price of oil produced by small, so-called stripper wells producing 10 barrels or less a day.

Simon explained that cutting back the price of new crude oil while allowing stripper wells to remain exempt from controls only would provide an incentive to the industry to cut back production of its wells to the 10-barrel-a-day limit.

Simon gave no indication of how large a rollback to expect. He has stated in the past that $7 a barrel would be a reasonable "long term" price for oil but cautioned Friday against speculation that prices would immediately be reduced to that level.

In response to questions from subcommittee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., Simon said predictions of a 20 per cent shortage in gasoline were "becoming only too accurate, but declined to make any new statement on the likelihood of gasoline rationing.

The Senate is scheduled to vote Tuesday on emergency energy legislation which would give President Nixon authority to order rationing.

Simon said he would order refineries to switch to maximum production of gasoline as soon as he is sure there is enough fuel oil on hand to make it through the winter.

Taft Seeks Re-Election ToCommittee

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— U.S. Sen. Robert Taft Jr. filed for re-election to the Ohio Republican Central Committee Friday, raising speculation about the status of a factional split between southwestern Ohio Republicans.

The split first appeared in the bitter primary fight in 1970 when Taft defeated former Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes for the senatorial nomination. Taft went on to defeat Cleveland Democrat Howard Metzenbaum for the seat.

Then, in 1972, Taft challenged Hamilton County Republican Chairman Earl Barnes for the central committee. Barnes was accused of backing Rhodes against Cincinnati Taft in the primary.

Republican officials said it was the first time in recent years a chairman was unseated from the committee by an office holder.

Barnes said Friday he was not certain whether he would again challenge the senator.

Political observers took Barnes' indecision as significant since the chairman was beaten badly by Taft.

In addition, Rhodes will appear in Cincinnati Monday in his first political trip to the city since declaring he will again seek the gubernatorial nomination.

Jaycees DSA Fete Is Monday

RAY MONSALVATGE

Circleville Jaycees will hold their annual Distinguished Service Award Banquet 6:30 p.m. Monday with Ray Monslavatge, Dayton, as the guest speaker.

Monsalvatge's career has taken him throughout the western hemisphere from Canada to Central and South America, Carribbean islands and all of the United States of America. His latest journey to Europe included Russia.

His travels began because of the interest he has in the people of this world and some of the problems they get themselves into. Attaining a degree in Psychology, he has counseled with the emotionally disturbed, taught at Birmingham-Southern College, the University of Puerto Rica and served as manager of Education for the National Management Association.

He is no stranger to Circleville as he was the speaker at the 1970 Chamber of Commerce dinner.

The Jaycees are involved in community projects throughout the year including the traffic safety school for juvenile traffic offenders; shooter education program for boys ages seven to 14 covering the safe use of firearms; the little Miss Pumpkin Show parade and contest; Halloween parade and costume contest;

Christmas parade and Santa house; 4-H King and Queen contest; Easter egg hunt for Books-Yates students; junior champ track meet; and wheelchair basketball in cooperation with the Easter Seal Society.

The committee is finalizing plans for the DSA Banquet where the Outstanding Senior Citizen and Outstanding Young Man will be announced.

Jaycees announced Roger Patterson as the Outstanding Educator and William Walker as the Outstanding Farmer earlier this week.

Return Man In Slaying

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Jere D. Crawford, who had been sought for a week in connection with the slaying of two Ashland County brothers, was returned here Friday after being arrested near Tiffin State Hospital.

Crawford and Thomas J. Hedges, 23, have been charged with aggravated murder in the slayings last Saturday of Joseph Hooker, 63, and his brother, Edward, 55.

Tiffin police said Crawford, 21, was found in the parking lot of the state hospital, where he was seeking admission.

Hedges was arrested earlier in the week at Indianapolis, Ind.

Violence Mars Truckers' Protest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More violence was reported Friday night in the spreading protests by independent truckers, who are unhappy over soaring fuel prices.

Youngstown police said George Bowman, a driver for Ohio Fast Freight Co. of Niles, was hit by a bullet as he drove his rig on a Youngstown street. The bullet penetrated the truck grill and hit Bowman in the leg.

Bowman was treated at the Republican Steel Corp. plant hospital. He told police he had just passed another rig going the other way and saw a flash, then felt the bullet.

Police reported gunfire at two points in Canton, but no one was hit. Stark County sheriff's deputies said a 30-year-old man was arrested after a trucker reported hearing shots fired along U.S. 62 in Canton.

Deputies said the man, Denver Haddock of Canton, had a pistol in his pocket with three spent shells in it.

Haddock was held on a concealed weapons charge.

Truck driver Don W. Slater, 43, of Akron reportedly was bruised by a rock that crashed through the windshield of his cab as he drove on Ohio 18 west of Wellington.

Lorain County truckers, who have been stopping trucks near Wellington, said they planned a meeting tonight and expect as many as 2,000 owner-operators to attend.

Charles Piazza, president of the Lorain-Elyria chapter of the Owners-Drivers Club, said he was told by an official of the Council of Independent Truckers in Washington, D.C., that a "major announcement" would be made tonight.

Oberlin trucker Bob Weitzel predicted the shutdown would spread.

"We'll keep this up until there are no trucks moving through Lorain County," he said.

Two truck drivers were arrested by the state Highway Patrol while trying to flag down trucks near a truck stop west of Warren on Ohio 5.

The patrol charged Jerry Cook of Warren and Rolland Hall of Hartford with disorderly conduct for allegedly interfering with traffic.

They pleaded innocent, and the cases were continued in the court of Warren Municipal Judge Donald Ford.

Picketing was reported at several points in Columbiana County, including two points on U.S. 30 near East Liverpool.

In another development, a federal judge in Cleveland issued an order enjoining the Council of Independent Truckers from interfering with movement of Lawson Milk Co. trucks.

Judge Thomas Lambros issued the order after hearing the company complain that truck drivers at Lawson's main plant in Cuyahoga Falls were being threatened.

The company said only two of 23 trucks scheduled to make runs did so Thursday. The complaint said pickets carried placards and shouted the slogan, "If you can't afford to shut down, you can't afford to run."

The order also banned use of a citizens band radio by the dissident truckers broadcast locations of Lawson trucks.

Sale Of Autos To Cuba Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Big Three U.S. auto makers have asked the government for permission for their Argentine subsidiaries to sell thousands of cars and trucks to Cuba, the Treasury Department says.

A Treasury spokesman said Friday night that Ford, Chrysler and General Motors have formally requested licenses waiving parts of the U.S. embargo on trade with Cuba to permit the sale.

He said the licenses are necessary for American citizens working for the auto firms' Argentine operations to engage in business with Cuba.

The requests were also confirmed in Detroit by the three automobile manufacturers. Automotive sources estimate the deal could be worth $150 million.

The Treasury spokesman said no decision had been made on whether to grant the licenses, and he said there was no indication when a decision would be made.

Although the proposed sale would be part of an Argentine-Cuban trade pact, it still hinges upon approval in Washington.

The Treasury spokesman said some of the requests date back several months.

In Detroit, spokesmen for the three firms said prices have already been quoted to Cuba on the vehicles.

A GM spokesman said his company had applied for its license last fall.

"That application is still pending, as far as we know, and our GM Argentina subsidiary still hasn't heard anything from the Cuban purchasing mission," he said.

The Argentine government extended a $1.2 billion line of credit to Cuba last year, a few months after re-establishing relations with Fidel Castro's government.

A Ford spokesman said that line of credit included automotive vehicles.

And a Chrysler spokesman said, "We have submitted bids on a substantial number of cars and are awaiting approval of the U.S. government before signing any contract."

The Chrysler subsidiary, which appears to be the closest to completing a deal, could sell 9,000 Dodge cars to the Cubans over the next three years. The Ford subsidiary's price quotation covered 800 Falcon cars and 200 trucks.

Last month the General Motors subsidiary announced it was close to selling 1,500 cars to Cuba.

A State Department spokesman said Friday night, "We know about the requests, but no decision has been made yet as to what to do about them."

Indefinite Auto Industry Layoffs Rise Past 64,000

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has announced layoffs that raise to just over 64,000 the number of auto workers furloughed indefinitely by an industry suffering from a serious sales decline.

Ford said on Friday that production cutbacks to begin Monday would idle 13,000 workers over the next two weeks, 4,000 indefinitely. The firm plans to trim 23,000 cars from its production schedule during the period.

Spokesmen indicated the cutbacks are tied to a decrease in sales of large cars.

In Washington, D.C., Labor Secretary Peter J. Brennan said Friday that his department has created a task force to deal with the increasing number of energy-related auto industry layoffs.

Brennan said the force would comprise Chicago regional Labor Department officials and state employment officials from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

So far this year, 40,000 GM and 13,000 Chrysler Corp. workers have been laid off indefinitely.

Ford, with a 175,000-man domestic hourly workforce, will have laid off 11,175 workers indefinitely as of Feb. 11.

Recent releases indicate Ford sales were 48,628 units for the first 20 days of this year, down from 77,081 for the same 1973 period.

Industry sales during the first two-thirds of January slumped from 440,031 last year to 293,292 this year. Only American Motors' sales were up.

Of the Ford workers being laid off indefinitely, 3,075 are from Michigan; 300 are from Buffalo, N.Y., stamping; and 150 are from Nashville, Tenn., glass. Others are scattered throughout Ford's U.S. plants.

General Motors Corp. has announced temporary layoffs for 75,000 assemblers over the next two months, cutting January-March production by 650,000 cars from last year's first-quarter output of 4.2 million.

Most of the workers being laid off at GM and Ford will be eligible for supplemental unemployment benefits with unemployment compensation. Together, the benefits total about 95 per cent of take-home pay for workers with full seniority.

Air Crash In Turkey Fatal To 60

IZMIR, Turkey (AP) — A twin-engine Turkish jetliner with 73 persons aboard crashed and exploded into flames today shortly after takeoff from Izmir's military airport. Sixty persons were killed, the airline reported.

Earlier, the airline said 70 persons were killed, but later issued an official correction.

News reports from Istanbul said the victims included four foreigners, including three Americans. They were not immediately identified.

Of the 13 survivors, 12 were in critical condition, the airline said. An infant boy, wrapped in a blanket, survived the crash and the blaze with minor scratches, airport police said.

The plane, a Dutch-made Fokker 28 in service only six months, was carrying 68 passengers and a crew of five on a flight from this Aegean port city to Istanbul.

According to airport sources, the jetliner rose about 450 feet and then suddenly crashed onto the runway. It burst into flames immediately, trapping most of those on board.

The survivors, including a stewardess, were rushed to the state hospital of Izmir.

The cause of the crash was being investigated by military experts and airline officials who rushed to the scene, including the director general of the Turkish airlines. Sources said they suspected engine problems to be the cause of the crash.

Judge Wants Nixon Statement On Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has asked President Nixon to state publicly why he opposes turning over five subpoenaed tapes to the Senate Watergate committee.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell ruled Friday that Nixon's claim of executive privilege "is too general" and is outdated by court rulings that led to surrender of most of the same tapes to the Watergate prosecution.

Gesell also threw out a subpoena the committee issued for all documents of 25 White House and Nixon re-election aides bearing on Watergate matters.

The judge said the subpoena for the documents "is too vague and conclusory to permit a meaningful response ... and is wholly inappropriate given the stringent requirements applicable where a claim of executive privilege has been raised."

Samuel Dash, chief counsel of the Watergate committee, agreed the documents subpoena was vague and very broad. Dash said the committee did not have enough evidence when it drew up the subpoena to be more specific about the materials it wanted.

But Dash pointed out the decision doesn't affect the subpoena for the five tapes. And since the original subpoenas were served on July 23, the committee has demanded nearly 500 tapes and hundreds of other documents.

Gesell asked Nixon to submit before Feb. 6 a statement "indicating whether he still wishes to invoke executive privilege as to these tapes" and the reasons that disclosure to the committee would not be in the public interest.

"This statement must be signed by the President, for only he can invoke the privilege at issue," Gesell ruled. He said the statement would be made part of the public record.

The committee issued its original subpoenas at about the same time that the special Watergate prosecutor demanded tapes of nine meetings. In response to both the prosecutor and the committee, Nixon claimed executive privilege, arguing that turning over the tapes and documents would invade presidential confidentiality.

The executive privilege issue was decided in favor of the prosecutor and the tapes were turned over. Four of the tapes sought by the committee are among the ones given to the prosecutor.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department said another claim of executive privilege still applies to certain White House documents in the milk case.

Government attorneys presented that argument in asking a federal judge to reject a motion for immediate production of documents Nixon referred to in a presidential white paper issued Jan. 8.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader asked for the documents in his suit against the administration. Nader contends a milk subsidy hike was approved because of political contributions from dairymen.

Government attorneys argued, "Merely because the White House has acknowledged (in the white paper) that one subject was discussed in these documents in no way suggests that the remainder of these internal documents should be disclosed."

Committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., announced either Robert A. Maheu or Richard G. Danner will be the leadoff witness when the panel resumes public hearings next Tuesday.

The three major television networks have agreed to cover the resumed hearings on a rotation basis. NBC will provide live coverage Tuesday, ABC will broadcast the proceedings Wednesday and CBS will televise Thursday's hearing.

Maheu is a former manager of billionaire Howard R. Hughes' gambling interests in Nevada and played a key role in transferring $100,000 in cash from Hughes to C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, a close friend of the President.

Danner, manager of Hughes' Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, reportedly delivered the Hughes funds to Rebozo after Nixon became president.

Ervin said Rebozo will be called as a witness after Danner and Maheu.

The White House acknowledged Nixon met last year with Danner but said campaign contributions were not discussed. Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Danner's visit to Camp David was "a courtesy call to say hello."

IZMIR, Turkey (AP) — A twin-engine Turkish jetliner with 73 persons aboard crashed and exploded into flames today shortly after takeoff from Izmir's military airport. Sixty persons were killed, the airline reported.

Earlier, the airline said 70 persons were killed, but later issued an official correction.

News reports from Istanbul said the victims included four foreigners, including three Americans. They were not immediately identified.

Of the 13 survivors, 12 were in critical condition, the airline said. An infant boy, wrapped in a blanket, survived the crash and the blaze with minor scratches, airport police said.

The plane, a Dutch-made Fokker 28 in service only six months, was carrying 68 passengers and a crew of five on a flight from this Aegean port city to Istanbul.

According to airport sources, the jetliner rose about 450 feet and then suddenly crashed onto the runway. It burst into flames immediately, trapping most of those on board.

The survivors, including a stewardess, were rushed to the state hospital of Izmir.

The cause of the crash was being investigated by military experts and airline officials who rushed to the scene, including the director general of the Turkish airlines. Sources said they suspected engine problems to be the cause of the crash.

Judge Wants Nixon Statement On Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has asked President Nixon to state publicly why he opposes turning over five subpoenaed tapes to the Senate Watergate committee.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell ruled Friday that Nixon's claim of executive privilege "is too general" and is outdated by court rulings that led to surrender of most of the same tapes to the Watergate prosecution.

Gesell also threw out a subpoena the committee issued for all documents of 25 White House and Nixon re-election aides bearing on Watergate matters.

The judge said the subpoena for the documents "is too vague and conclusory to permit a meaningful response ... and is wholly inappropriate given the stringent requirements applicable where a claim of executive privilege has been raised."

Samuel Dash, chief counsel of the Watergate committee, agreed the documents subpoena was vague and very broad. Dash said the committee did not have enough evidence when it drew up the subpoena to be more specific about the materials it wanted.

But Dash pointed out the decision doesn't affect the subpoena for the five tapes. And since the original subpoenas were served on July 23, the committee has demanded nearly 500 tapes and hundreds of other documents.

Gesell asked Nixon to submit before Feb. 6 a statement "indicating whether he still wishes to invoke executive privilege as to these tapes" and the reasons that disclosure to the committee would not be in the public interest.

"This statement must be signed by the President, for only he can invoke the privilege at issue," Gesell ruled. He said the statement would be made part of the public record.

The committee issued its original subpoenas at about the same time that the special Watergate prosecutor demanded tapes of nine meetings. In response to both the prosecutor and the committee, Nixon claimed executive privilege, arguing that turning over the tapes and documents would invade presidential confidentiality.

The executive privilege issue was decided in favor of the prosecutor and the tapes were turned over. Four of the tapes sought by the committee are among the ones given to the prosecutor.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department said another claim of executive privilege still applies to certain White House documents in the milk case.

Government attorneys presented that argument in asking a federal judge to reject a motion for immediate production of documents Nixon referred to in a presidential white paper issued Jan. 8.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader asked for the documents in his suit against the administration. Nader contends a milk subsidy hike was approved because of political contributions from dairymen.

Government attorneys argued, "Merely because the White House has acknowledged (in the white paper) that one subject was discussed in these documents in no way suggests that the remainder of these internal documents should be disclosed."

Committee Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., announced either Robert A. Maheu or Richard G. Danner will be the leadoff witness when the panel resumes public hearings next Tuesday.

The three major television networks have agreed to cover the resumed hearings on a rotation basis. NBC will provide live coverage Tuesday, ABC will broadcast the proceedings Wednesday and CBS will televise Thursday's hearing.

Maheu is a former manager of billionaire Howard R. Hughes' gambling interests in Nevada and played a key role in transferring $100,000 in cash from Hughes to C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, a close friend of the President.

Danner, manager of Hughes' Sands Hotel in Las Vegas, reportedly delivered the Hughes funds to Rebozo after Nixon became president.

Ervin said Rebozo will be called as a witness after Danner and Maheu.

The White House acknowledged Nixon met last year with Danner but said campaign contributions were not discussed. Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Danner's visit to Camp David was "a courtesy call to say hello."

WINTER PASTURE—Winter pasture for beef brood cows has become popular with Pickaway County cattlemen in recent years. This program consists of baling meadow crops during the summer harvest. These are left in the field and cattle are allowed to graze these bales during the winter, as shown in the above picture. Cattlemen will have an opportunity to visit some of these operations next January 28, during the first Pickaway County Winter Pasture Tour. The tour will start at the Wilson and Harry Ross Farm on the Hayesville-Adelphi Road (right across from the power station) at 1:15 p.m. The tour then will proceed to the Norm Godden Farm, David Bolender Farm, and will conclude at the Art Leist Farm.

4-H...People Helping People

By STEVE BARTELS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

4-H in the past has been thought of as strictly a club for farm or rural children. Although the agriculture and home economics clubs are still the back bone of the 4-H programs, 4-H is on the advance in the more urban areas.

4-H has so much to offer its members, regardless of where they live or in what occupation their father or mother is employed.

4-H is fun. Clubs organize in their own communities and friends can join together. The members go to camp, club meetings and the fair.

4-H is friends - it gives members an opportunity to meet others that they might not meet if they had not joined a club. The 4-H camps are a great chance to meet and mingle with members from all over the county. The Junior Leader clubs for older 4-H members are county wide and meet once a month for fun and an educational experience. On the state level, 4-H Club Congress allows the delegates to meet people from all over the state with different cultures, ideas and opinions. I think one of the best parts of my 4-H experience while I was a member was the other people I met and the lasting friendships which developed.

4-H is caring. 4-H is leaders caring about members, helping them to grow, to learn and to experience. 4-H is members caring about members. Older 4-H youth help the younger members. When a member becomes 14 years old and has been in 4-H one year he can join the Junior Leadership club. In this club he learns how to help the younger members and how to take some of the responsibility off of the advisor for planning and running the 4-H club meeting.

4-H is caring about a project. It can be a dog, steer, dress, cooking project or any one of the 160 projects, but the member has to put an effort into completing it. While he works so hard on the project he puts himself into it and learns to care whether he completes it or not.

Starting with this article I will discuss some of the projects in which 4-H members can participate and some that might not often be considered.

Are you interested in becoming a doctor, nurse, nurse's aide, X-ray technician, physical thereapist or pharmacist? Then you might be interested in joining our Nursing and First Aid club. This is a new club this year, and we have a nurse who will be the advisor. She plans to have doctors, nurse's technicians, etc., come to speak to the group. You will take tours of hospitals, learn basic patient care and first aid. This club is ideal for teen volunteers at the hospital.

If you are interested please contact me at the Extension Office, 474-7534, or call my wife at 474-6994.

Bees are important for their production of honey, but they are even more important as pollinators of fruit, vegetable, and commercial crops.

So, if you have considered keeping honeybees as a hobby or as a commercial project, here's your chance to learn more about them.

Dr. Larry Connor, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University, provides basic beekeeping informating in a correspondence course. Application forms for the 12-lesson course are available through all Cooperative Extension Service county offices. The course is available at no charge to Ohio residents.

Since most beekeepers in Ohio are hobbyists and have fewer than 10 colonies of bees, they represent every profession and age. These bee owners find beekeeping an interesting hobby as well as a profitable one, Connor says.

Anyone interested in the Basic Beekeeping Correspondence Course should contact the local county agricultural agent or write or call Beekeeping Correspondence Course, 1735 Neil Avenue, Columbus, Ohio 43210. Phone number is 614-422-5274.

News For Homemakers

By BEVERLY BECHTEL
County Extension Agent,
Home Economics

Our enterprising younger ctiizens are constantly thinking of profitable projects, but like many of us, they lack those first few dollars to "get going." It takes money to make money, to use a tried and true phrase.

There are now funds available as "loans" to youngsters under 21 years old in rural areas who want to begin and operate income-producing projects. The U.S. Dept. of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration offers these modest loans through the "Youth Project Loan" program.

Some of the ideas for projects would include: re-upholstering and refinishing furniture, repair shops, woodworking projects, livestock production, or even a profitable roadside stand. The loans are available to individuals (not organizations) under 21 years of age. The youth must be a member of an organized and supervised program of work and must be planning to produce enough income to repay the loan. Examples of these organized youth groups would be 4-H, FFA, FHA, and Boy Scouts, among others. The youth would plan and apply for the loan with the aid of parents and club advisor.

This would be a good opportunity for young people to learn about handling money, and may be a way for him to make profit this year when jobs for young people are scarce.

Repairs 'Round the House

Got a leaky faucet? Broken screens? Does the plaster look like a roadmap? These long winter evenings are a good time to make those home repairs around the house. We all know that if you wait until warm weather, you'll never get them done. We have an excellent free booklet "Simple Home Repairs" with ten basic repairs illustrated. Why not get one?

Younger Homemakers

We have discussed the possibility of organizing a "young homemakers" club specifically for those who share interests in budgeting, child rearing, marriage relationships, establishing new homes, convenience cookery, ecology crafts, and so forth. Short meetings at convenient times (with maybe a nursery for wee ones?) would be emphasized. If you are interested, please let me know.

Incidently, I mail out a newsletter, "The Extension Homemaker," each month and a foods newsletter bi-monthly. If you're not on our mailing list, you could be. Give us a call, or drop us a line.

Catching Flu From Turtles?

The F. D. A. tells us that pet turtles, fish and insects can be carriers of the bacteria Salmonella which can make you and the kids sick. The bacteria causes a disease much like the flu, with abdominal pain, nausea, fever, and diarrhea. The F. D. A. suggests that you tell the kids to keep the turtle away from their face or mouth, and wash hands immediately after handling the turtle.

Don't clean the turtle or fish bowl in the kitchen sink or near food areas. If you clean it in the bathroom, scour out the sink or tub afterwards. A good rinse with a chlorine bleach solution wouldn't hurt, either.

The F.D.A. now requires that turtles sold across state lines be free of the bacteria ("they're "certified" in the home state, just like teachers.) The F. D.A. tests turtles now whenever sold. Infected ones are destroyed. Turtles are fun and educational, but they don't need to be flu carriers.

Ohio farmers can now get the latest information and recommendations on field crop production from Extension and Research agronomists of The Ohio State University and the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center.

Copies of the 1974-75 Agronomy Guide, Extension Bulletin 472, are now available from The Pickaway County Cooperative Extension Service office at 137 W. Franklin St.

The Guide, perhaps the most popular agronomy publication in Ohio for nearly a decade, is brought up to date every two years. It covers a wide variety of crop production areas including climate, soils, conservation practices, plant nutrition, lime, diagnostic methods, fertilizer, seed corn, grain sorghum, small grain, sugar beets, tobacco, forages, and weed control.

The 100-page bulletin is designed to help farmers answer a variety of questions about the subject listed. This new edition has been extensively revised.

ASCS Office To Administer New Program

Pickaway County ASCS Office will be responsible for administering the new 1974 Rural Evnironmental Conservation Program. The new program, which replaces and modifies the old REAP, has several new aspects of interest to county residents.

According to Walton Spangler, ASCS County executive director, the new cost sharing phase of the program could be extremely beneficial to farmers. It provides for a minimum of 50 per cent and maximum of 75 per cent return to the user for all expenses he incurs while establishing conservation or forestry practices on his land, including labor costs.

Also under the 1974 program, an applicant can either elect to apply for a single one year program of conservation improvement, or select a three to 10 year continuing program. The extended period of time now allowed will be most beneficial to those wishing rather extensive conservation improvements on their land, but preferring to spread them out over a period of years.

All applications must be made directly to the ASCS county office. Complete information and details on the specific programs will be available soon.

Spangler also said he does have the basic information on the program that has been authorized by the Secretary of Agriculture for cost sharing. Fourteen separate practices have been announced, plus two which deal with county projects for conservation peculiar to a specific county.

This year's program places emphasis on forestry practices, which could offer additional interest to some farmers.

Declares Dividend

The Norfolk and Western Railway Board of Directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 per share of common stock payable on March 11, 1974 to stockholders of record on February 7, 1974.

The club met in the Colliseum at the Fairgrounds on January 17, 1974. During the meeting members worked their dogs on heeling, stand for examination, the recall, and the sit and down stays.

Dr. Quillen explained how to get the dogs to drop instantly while moving in preparation for the drop on recall. Everyone had their dumbbells and worked on getting their dogs to take and hold them.

Members decided they would like to tour the new Ohio State University Veterinary Clinic and see a film Dr. Quillen can get from the American Veterinary Medical Association on veterinary medicine.

The next meeting will be held at the Colliseum on February 7, 1974, at 7:30 p.m.

Ice Damaged Trees

No doubt many had ice damage to trees and shrubs during the past month. Following snow or ice damage, remove fallen branches from the ground. Then remove broken or badly damaged branches from the tree or shrub. Do not top the tree unless the top is broken out. Topping makes a tree even more susceptible to future storm damage.

Generally, trees can be saved if breakage is confined to the branches. However, if the main trunk is broken or if the tree is uprooted, removal may be necessary.

Snow damage is more common to shrubs than trees. In case we get more heavy snow or ice, do not try to remove snow by frailing the branches with a broom. You'll do more damage than the snow. Shake branches gently or lightly brush snow away. Since ice sticks tight and twigs and branches are fragile due to cold, it is best to leave ice alone to melt away.

Mid-Winter Jobs

Don't wait until late March or early April to order your strawberry plants. They should be ordered now for delivery about that time. Everbearing or June bearing may be planted, depending on your likes and dislikes. With the everbearing varieties, you get a fall crop the first year. June bearing plants set this spring will fruit a year later.

Spring Flowering Bulbs

If you do the job right, spring flowering bulbs can be enjoyed in the home from January until bulbs are in flower outside. First, check with your bulb supplier to determine which ones to grow indoors. Pots or flats are good for planting the bulbs. Plant in well-drained soil. The planting medium should be at least four inches deep. Leave nose of the bulb just at the top of the soil or planting medium.

Keep the bulbs moist and at a temperature of about 40 degrees for a minimum of 12 to 13 weeks. Temperatures as low as 32 degrees and as high as 50 degrees are satisfactory but not as good as 40 degrees. A garage may be suitable, but normally pots or flats are placed outside under ample mulch.

To bring the bulbs into flower, place flats or pots in a well-lighted area at about 65 degrees. Once they have flowered, they may be placed outside and given the normal care for outside spring flowering bulbs.

Legislative Report

By MYRL SHOEMAKER,
State Representative
88th House District

This week the Ohio House of Representatives passed 92-0 legislation to implement the educational assistance section of the Vietnam Veterans Bonus approved by Ohio voters in November of 1973.

Under the measure, veterans qualifying for bonus payments can receive double the cash value when the funds are used for educational assistance.

The bill gives discretion to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, who have responsibility for administering the bonus, to reimburse the veteran or to pay tuition or similar fees directly to a qualifying institution.

In order to receive educational assistance, the veteran must attend an institution approved by Ohio, another state or the Veterans Administration.

Veterans attending educational institutions between November 6, 1973 and December 31, 1982 will be eligible for such assistance. Applications must be made by January 1, 1978.

In a related event, John Bush, 64, was elected director of the Vietnam Conflict Compensation Fund by the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. Bush was director of the Commerce Department for former Governor DiSalle and superintendent of purchasing and printing in former Governor Lausche's administration.

Bush said his main concern as bonus director would be to pay the money to veterans as quickly and efficiently as possible. Until a staff is employed and office space secured, inquiries concerning the Vietnam era veterans bonus should be directed to the State Auditor at the State House in Columbus.

Approval of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex was recommended by the Senate Elections Committee. The amendment was adopted by the Ohio House last March, but has been stalled in the Senate committee until this week. A Senate floor vote on the proposal is expected in the next few weeks.

Both the House of Representatives and Senate have appointed members to their respective ethics committees. An ethics committee for each house was created as a part of the ethics bill adopted by the General Assembly last year. Each committee would be responsible for hearing allegations of illegal or unethical conduct involving members or employees of that house. All candidates for the House and Senate will be required by this legislation to disclose their sources of income.

The Ohio Ethics Commission was created by the same legislation and recently elected Rev. Robert Raines of Columbus as chairman. This body is mainly responsible for enforcement of the ethics law on the local government level and in the executive branch of state government.

Plane Crash At Willoughby Fatal To 6

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP)— Six persons died Friday when a plane with four persons aboard crashed while landing at Cuyahoga County Airport and rammed into a home, bursting into flame, officials said.

The Federal Aviation Commission identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. John Macek of Willoughby Hills, whose home was struck; Charles Kinzig, president and treasurer of Kinzig Tool Co. in nearby Gates Mills; Elmer W. Holmok, 31, the pilot; and Cecil Kopperman, 62, a company accountant.

The sixth victim was unidentified.

Neighbors said Macek, 76, was retired and his wife was an invalid.

The plane, a twin-engine Piper Navajo seating six to eight persons, was on a 90-minute local flight and was returning to the airport. Witnesses said it appeared to have engine trouble and to strike utility lines, then flipped and plunged into the front of the home.

An airport official said she understood the pilot may have radioed that he had trouble but that she didn't know what the trouble was.

It was unclear to whom the plane belonged.

The show is in rehearsal with performances scheduled for Feb. 23 and 24 at Memorial Hall.

Wheat Quotas To Be Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following a recommendation by the U.S. Tariff Commission, President Nixon plans to sign an executive order suspending import quotas on wheat, the White House says.

A spokesman predicted the signing would take place "in the very near future." The commission recommended on Thursday that Nixon lift import curbs until June 30. Much of the imported wheat would come from Canada.

The United States is the world's largest wheat exporter, and the Agriculture Department said reserves of the grain had fallen below earlier estimates.

A Page Of Opinion

Population Shift Key

It is ironic that surveys of people who live in large cities invariably show many of them—usually more than half—would prefer to live in rural areas. Despite that sentiment, the migration to urban areas continues. It has slowed somewhat, from 5.5 million Americans in the 1950s to 2.2 million in the 1960s.

But until the trend is reversed, the quality of life in both rural and urban America will continue to suffer. Small towns and rural communities wither under declining populations. The cities frequently prove inhospitable to rural newcomers, forcing them on welfare or worse to survive.

To what extent population density breeds crime and other unpleasantries continues to be debated, but crime statistics favor the rural community. The sentiment many people express for the more leisurely pace of urban life also attests to a human need the large cities are not fulfilling.

Economics forces continue to rule population patterns, however, and many small communities have not found employment substitutes for the small farm. Farm shrinkage may continue at a slower pace, but a reversal of population shifts depends upon the appearance of economic incentives in rural areas.

Beau Jack Likes Ali

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Two of the most mortifying things a man can do is ride in a coolie-pulled rickshaw and get his shoes shined by Beau Jack. The worst part of these exploitations of hard-working fellow human beings is their gratitude for being employed.

There are few if any richshaws left in the Peoples Republic of China and they are becoming a rarity in Hong Kong. But the cheerful man the New York Boxing Commission recognized as lightweight champion of the world 30 years ago can be found every day at his stand in the barbershop of the lush Fontainebleau Hotel, Miami Beach.

Dropped by to see him the other day to catch up on the state of the nation, the condition of boxing in general and Beau in particular. As for the shine, that's Beau's business. It supports him, his wife, and their 15 children. Fifteen.

Beau likes Muhammad Ali in the Monday night return fight against Joe Frazier at Madison Square Garden. By a knockout about the middle of the scheduled 15-round rematch.

He was reminded that Ali has an injured right hand.

"Hee hee hee," Beau giggled. "He just wants Joe to believe that. Wait'll the fight. Then, all of a sudden, no sore right hand. I know Ali. He always comes to see me when he's in town.

"Joe's got two big problems," said the man who used to fill an earlier Madison Square Garden, rubbing away. "First thing is that his manager died. When he's out there in the ring, Joe'll look at his corner for a sign or a look that means something, and the old manager won't be there. Be a new face there he don't know, and the new fella he don't know Joe.

"Second thing, Joe's doctors tell him he can't take too many more punches around the head without something bad happening to his head. But there's no way he or nobody can stop getting jabbed over and over again by Ali, Ali's so fast with his left. Look at the way Joe looked at the end of the first fight. They gave him the decision, but he was all busted up like a loser.

"So I know Joe. He comes to see me when he's here in town. Joe, he's gonna go out there and try to knock Ali out real quick, to get it over with before he has to take all thos jabs to the head. That means he'll open himself up real good, and Ali will show him that that sore right hand was just a joke. Ali'll belt Joe out."

George Foreman, the champion, has said he could knock out both of them in the same night . . .

Beau Jack shook with another case of giggles.

"Foreman? He nothing. He had Frazier down six times — six times! and couldn't finish him. He starts his punches 'way back a mile. That makes him real easy to hit. I don't see what they don't put him in there with Ali real soon and end all the talk about who's the best. Ali would beat him so easy!

Beau watched CBS-TV's memoir on old ring champions last Sunday.

"Don't have the fighters around today like you had," Beau said, shaking his head. "Did you see Jack Johnson catching those punches like they was baseball? Man! And therz ain't no more Joe Louis. He was the greatest I ever saw."

As long as we had cleared that up, Beau was asked about the outcome of an even bigger fight in the offing, Richard M. Nixon versus the House of Representatives.

He knows as much about that as anybody else.

"He gonna make it," Beau said solemnly, the President's firmest vote of confidence in days.

Beau Jack started out in life as a boy bootblack at the Augusta National Golf Course, home of the Masters. The aristocratic members would stage a weekly fight night, involving the club's black help, young and old. They would throw the winners a buck or two.

Beau was their favorite fighter, as a kid. Later, a group of the sports put together enough money to give him some formal boxing lessons and bring him to the attention of Mike Jacobs, who ran boxing in the country. Beau fought everybody in sight, and brought thousands to their feet with his slam-bang, go-for-broke style.

Made a lot of money, but he blew some of it and the rest was stolen from him. So, when his legs wore out, he worked his way back to his old shoeshine chair at Augusta, and then on to Miami Beach.

I asked him if he had any bitterness about the swells at the National.

"Oh, no." Beau said. "One of the best things that ever happened to me in my life was there. Mr. Bobby Jones was nice to me. I cried when he died. He was the nicest gentleman I ever met."

House Panel Eyes Impeachment Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — House impeachment investigators are searching the history books for clues to what the Founding Fathers had in mind when they wrote impeachment into the Constitution.

Special Counsel John W. Doar said Thursday that lawyers on the staff of the Judiciary Committee are beginning their inquiry by studying what constitutes an impeachable offense.

The key question to be decided is what the phrase "high crimes and misdemeanors" means.

That's what the Constitution defines as impeachable offenses and in the nearly 200 years since the words were written there has been controversy over their meaning.

The close parallel between the words and terms used in criminal law have convinced many scholars — and all persons threatened with impeachment — that only misconduct punishable under criminal law warrants impeachment.

But other experts and the precedents of previous House impeachments support the view that even gross derelictions of duty that fall short of criminal behavior can be impeachable offenses.

Doar, following a meeting with the senior Judiciary Committee members who are guiding the investigation, said the staff is working on a legal brief that will set forth a definition to be used in the Nixon impeachment inquiry.

He said the brief should be ready in mid-February, at which time public hearings on it may be held by the committee. A move will be made in the committee then to adopt a standard as to what an impeachable offense is.

"This is a terribly important and difficult matter," said Doar. "It is terribly important to the President, to the committee and to the country. We're not going to do it in a rush. We're going to get the best constitutional advice we can. We're going to read and study and think as carefully as we can before we recommend to the committee what we think 'high crimes and misdemeanors' means."

If Nixon is impeached, it will be the Senate, which tries impeachments voted by the House, that makes the final determination whether he has committed an impeachable offense.

Upon conviction by the Senate, the President would be removed from office.

Adhesives Ban Will Be Lifted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission announced today it will lift its 6-month-old ban on 13 brands of aerosol spray adhesives on March 1.

The commission said a panel of experts overwhelmingly supported the conclusion that there is no evidence to justify earlier concerns that the adhesives might cause chromosome damage and birth defects.

The one-month delay in rescinding the ban was viewed as an added precaution, however, in case new information becomes available.

Motorists arrested on charges of driving when intoxicated would soon be "blowing up balloons" if a recommendation of the grand jury was followed.

The jury recommended that equipment be purchased to determine the amount of alcohol imbibed by a drunken driver.

Dr. D. V. Courtright was elected president of the Pickaway County Medical Association at the organization meeting at Hanley's Tearoom.

A committee to study methods of teaching safety in the county schools, and instructed to make recommendations at the February meeting of county superintendents, was appointed by G. D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools.

A. J. Lyle, 154 W. Mound St., was indorsed by the Pickaway County Republican Executive Committee for appointment as deputy registrar of motor vehicles in Circleville.

Renfro Valley Barn Dance presented a live stage show at the Grand Theatre. The film feature on the bill was Lucille Ball, James Ellison and Lee Bowman in "Next Time I Marry". Prices charged for the attraction were: main floor and balcony 40 cents, gallery 30 cents and children 15 cents.

Official Victim Of Tennis Mishap

Lansing, Mich. (AP)—The game of tennis, which sidelined Gov. William G. Milliken last fall, now has a new victim: Lt. Gov. James Brickley.

Brickley showed up for work Thursday with 25 stitches in a one-inch area of his upper lip and confided he hit himself Wednesday night with his racket while trying to hook the ball.

"I missed the ball," he said. The racket struck his face and split his lip against a tooth.

"It's only Daddy!"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The undeniable relationship between cholesterol, triglycerides and blood lipids with cardiovascular problems is generally accepted.

It is believed that a complete understanding of this important relationship must be given credence at a very early age if the mortality statistics are to be reduced.

Twelve communities in the United States have been selected by the National Heart and Lung Institute to participate in "lipid studies" in children.

It is felt that with constant study, proper diet, and health education, children will be spared some of the hazards that confront them as they grow older.

Parents, too, are eligible to participate in these studies. Educational methods to keep youngsters from starting the tobacco habit will be an essential ingredient in this program.

Ultraviolet light waves are considered responsible for many of the superficial skin cancers now recognized so frequently.

To learn more about the relationship between ultraviolet light and cancer, and to find methods to protect against the light, a projected study is being planned.

Special light sensors are being established in the United States, Germany, Australia, and Switzerland. At hourly intervals, observation will be made about the amount of ultraviolet light that reaches the earth's surface.

The study, under the direction of the National Cancer Institute and Temple University, is concerned with skin cancer and the far-reaching effect of supersonic transport planes. These planes are known to affect the protective ozone layer above the earth that filters out dangerous ultraviolet light.

Paramedics refers to a vast group of excellently trained non-doctors who are making a significant contribution to modern medicine. Their capabilities are so great that many can handle life-saving problems in the emergency rooms and in intensive-care units.

The shortage of doctors in many communities is compensated for by the presence of the paramedic in hospitals and on ambulances.

This profession has opened wide horizons to well-educated people who want to live and function in the gratifying world of medicine.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is man's greatest crutch and most dependable hope.

When times are bad, he is cheered by remembering worse days he survived and found joy again. Memory tells him there is no reason the miracle cannot be repeated. And so, as memory deepens, so does hope.

You've got quite a heartful of memories yourself if you can look back and remember when —

Herbert Hoover was perhaps the most admired man in America for his relief work among the refugees of World War I.

The only time the average man went to a dentist was when he had to have a tooth pulled. If it proved a real tug-of-war, the dentist would sometimes reward the patient with a free shot of bourbon or rye.

About all that young boys knew of the mysteries of sex they learned from watching a girl's school gym class work out in middies and bloomers.

Doctors never had to worry about running out of gasoline as they drove horses and buggies.

People began to gossip about a young couple if they went to an amusement park and made more then two trips through the Tunnel of Love.

Your literary tastes were regarded as pretty low if you were seen reading a paperback book.

Dogs were born and lived out their lives without ever having to undergo the indignity of wearing a collar and leash.

During the summer in small towns the liveliest place after midnight was in the local cemetery.

During winter at least a third of the pupils in the nation's grammar schools usually had runny noses.

Being poor was no disgrace. No matter how bad times were, a man usually had at least one neighbor who he felt was worse off than himself.

Heaven to a young man was Saturday night and two whole dollars of his own to spend on his best girl.

A showoff was a guy who openly bragged that he had been up in an airplane not just once but twice.

The largest bill most people had seen was a $20. The bank was the only place where you could cash a $50 bill — and even then the teller usually wouldn't do it until he had conferred with one of the officers.

If you failed at something, you didn't run to a welfare board. The prevailing philosophy was "try, try again."

Those were the days — remember?

Trial Set April 1 Over Teacher Rules

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— The trial of a suit by the Cincinnati Teachers Association attacking new residency requirements for new teachers by the school board will open April 1 in Hamilton County Common Pleas Court.

The rule applies to all employes hired since Nov. 13, 1972. Teachers earlier won a temporary injunction suspending the rule.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I wonder how many people in Circleville find their water and sewage billing confusing? The article in The Herald on Jan. 22 did little to remove this confusion.

According to this article residents of zone 1 will receive a "one month bill for September to be mailed approximately Jan. 28." I live in zone 1 and paid a bill on Dec. 3 which I was told was for the month of September.

The new rates have been in effect now for over one year. If those in authority can not straighten out the billing procedures in over one year I wonder if they are competent to manage the large sums the new rates are bringing in.

Have any of you actually figured how much your payments have increased? My sewage bill alone has gone up over 900 per cent since the increase in rates, while the combined water-sewage bill has risen almost 100 per cent. It looks like we are lucky that the overall cost of living went up only 8.8 per cent in 1973.

Another inequity of the new system is that residents of zone 1 started paying at the new higher rates one month earlier than one-third of the city and two months before the remaining third.

Those of us who work for private industry or in other non-tax supported jobs can consider ourselves lucky that our businesses are not run in such a manner. If they were, I am afraid these businesses would soon fold and we would be looking for other jobs or asking the taxpayers to support us.

Ours, Yours And Theirs

A Page Of Opinion

Population Shift Key

It is ironic that surveys of people who live in large cities invariably show many of them—usually more than half—would prefer to live in rural areas. Despite that sentiment, the migration to urban areas continues. It has slowed somewhat, from 5.5 million Americans in the 1950s to 2.2 million in the 1960s.

But until the trend is reversed, the quality of life in both rural and urban America will continue to suffer. Small towns and rural communities wither under declining populations. The cities frequently prove inhospitable to rural newcomers, forcing them on welfare or worse to survive.

To what extent population density breeds crime and other unpleasantries continues to be debated, but crime statistics favor the rural community. The sentiment many people express for the more leisurely pace of urban life also attests to a human need the large cities are not fulfilling.

Economics forces continue to rule population patterns, however, and many small communities have not found employment substitutes for the small farm. Farm shrinkage may continue at a slower pace, but a reversal of population shifts depends upon the appearance of economic incentives in rural areas.

Beau Jack Likes Ali

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Two of the most mortifying things a man can do is ride in a coolie-pulled rickshaw and get his shoes shined by Beau Jack. The worst part of these exploitations of hard-working fellow human beings is their gratitude for being employed.

There are few if any richshaws left in the Peoples Republic of China and they are becoming a rarity in Hong Kong. But the cheerful man the New York Boxing Commission recognized as lightweight champion of the world 30 years ago can be found every day at his stand in the barbershop of the lush Fontainebleau Hotel, Miami Beach.

Dropped by to see him the other day to catch up on the state of the nation, the condition of boxing in general and Beau in particular. As for the shine, that's Beau's business. It supports him, his wife, and their 15 children. Fifteen.

Beau likes Muhammad Ali in the Monday night return fight against Joe Frazier at Madison Square Garden. By a knockout about the middle of the scheduled 15-round rematch.

He was reminded that Ali has an injured right hand.

"Hee hee hee," Beau giggled. "He just wants Joe to believe that. Wait'll the fight. Then, all of a sudden, no sore right hand. I know Ali. He always comes to see me when he's in town.

"Joe's got two big problems," said the man who used to fill an earlier Madison Square Garden, rubbing away. "First thing is that his manager died. When he's out there in the ring, Joe'll look at his corner for a sign or a look that means something, and the old manager won't be there. Be a new face there he don't know, and the new fella he don't know Joe.

"Second thing, Joe's doctors tell him he can't take too many more punches around the head without something bad happening to his head. But there's no way he or nobody can stop getting jabbed over and over again by Ali, Ali's so fast with his left. Look at the way Joe looked at the end of the first fight. They gave him the decision, but he was all busted up like a loser.

"So I know Joe. He comes to see me when he's here in town. Joe, he's gonna go out there and try to knock Ali out real quick, to get it over with before he has to take all thos jabs to the head. That means he'll open himself up real good, and Ali will show him that that sore right hand was just a joke. Ali'll belt Joe out."

George Foreman, the champion, has said he could knock out both of them in the same night . . .

Beau Jack shook with another case of giggles.

"Foreman? He nothing. He had Frazier down six times — six times! and couldn't finish him. He starts his punches 'way back a mile. That makes him real easy to hit. I don't see what they don't put him in there with Ali real soon and end all the talk about who's the best. Ali would beat him so easy!

Beau watched CBS-TV's memoir on old ring champions last Sunday.

"Don't have the fighters around today like you had," Beau said, shaking his head. "Did you see Jack Johnson catching those punches like they was baseball? Man! And therz ain't no more Joe Louis. He was the greatest I ever saw."

As long as we had cleared that up, Beau was asked about the outcome of an even bigger fight in the offing, Richard M. Nixon versus the House of Representatives.

He knows as much about that as anybody else.

"He gonna make it," Beau said solemnly, the President's firmest vote of confidence in days.

Beau Jack started out in life as a boy bootblack at the Augusta National Golf Course, home of the Masters. The aristocratic members would stage a weekly fight night, involving the club's black help, young and old. They would throw the winners a buck or two.

Beau was their favorite fighter, as a kid. Later, a group of the sports put together enough money to give him some formal boxing lessons and bring him to the attention of Mike Jacobs, who ran boxing in the country. Beau fought everybody in sight, and brought thousands to their feet with his slam-bang, go-for-broke style.

Made a lot of money, but he blew some of it and the rest was stolen from him. So, when his legs wore out, he worked his way back to his old shoeshine chair at Augusta, and then on to Miami Beach.

I asked him if he had any bitterness about the swells at the National.

"Oh, no." Beau said. "One of the best things that ever happened to me in my life was there. Mr. Bobby Jones was nice to me. I cried when he died. He was the nicest gentleman I ever met."

House Panel Eyes Impeachment Data

WASHINGTON (AP) — House impeachment investigators are searching the history books for clues to what the Founding Fathers had in mind when they wrote impeachment into the Constitution.

Special Counsel John W. Doar said Thursday that lawyers on the staff of the Judiciary Committee are beginning their inquiry by studying what constitutes an impeachable offense.

The key question to be decided is what the phrase "high crimes and misdemeanors" means.

That's what the Constitution defines as impeachable offenses and in the nearly 200 years since the words were written there has been controversy over their meaning.

The close parallel between the words and terms used in criminal law have convinced many scholars — and all persons threatened with impeachment — that only misconduct punishable under criminal law warrants impeachment.

But other experts and the precedents of previous House impeachments support the view that even gross derelictions of duty that fall short of criminal behavior can be impeachable offenses.

Doar, following a meeting with the senior Judiciary Committee members who are guiding the investigation, said the staff is working on a legal brief that will set forth a definition to be used in the Nixon impeachment inquiry.

He said the brief should be ready in mid-February, at which time public hearings on it may be held by the committee. A move will be made in the committee then to adopt a standard as to what an impeachable offense is.

"This is a terribly important and difficult matter," said Doar. "It is terribly important to the President, to the committee and to the country. We're not going to do it in a rush. We're going to get the best constitutional advice we can. We're going to read and study and think as carefully as we can before we recommend to the committee what we think 'high crimes and misdemeanors' means."

If Nixon is impeached, it will be the Senate, which tries impeachments voted by the House, that makes the final determination whether he has committed an impeachable offense.

Upon conviction by the Senate, the President would be removed from office.

Nominations for FFA Queen were Made. Qualifications require the nominee be a junior or senior in high school and have some farming background. A date for the banquet was suggested.

Other business discussed was intramural sports, skating party and buying a movie camera.

Refreshments were served to members after the meeting.

Gilligan Can't Change Time

CLEVELAND, Ohio ((AP)— Gov. John J. Gilligan says Congress should consider turning back clocks if Daylight Saving Time isn't saving energy.

"It has to be done on a national basis," Gilligan said Friday, adding that the deadline before which he could have exempted Ohio from the federal measure is long past.

Gilligan said he has asked the Ohio congressional delegation to tell him whether DST is helping to ease the energy crunch.

He also said he believes that the nation's only course for discovering whether President Nixon is guilty or innocent of wrongdoing is to impeach the President. He said current questions have "virtually paralyzed" the federal government.

Gilligan made the comments in a news conference taped for broadcast Sunday morning by Television Station WEWS, Cleveland, and for Sunday evening showing by by WCPO, Cincinnati.

Pleasantview MYF Plans Meeting

The Pleasantview Youth Fellowship held its weekly meeting Tuesday.

Marilyn O'Hara was in charge of devotions.

Amanda FFA Plans Banquet

The Amanda-Clearcreek Futura Farmers of America held its monthly meeting Monday, with Dean LaRue, president, presiding.

Winners in the pest hunt were: Jed Davis, first; Melvin Scurlock, second; Randy Francis, third; Ed Ritchie, fourth; Dean LaRue, fifth.

The treasurer's report was given by Joel Spires.

Speakers chosen for the speaking contest were: Kurt Smelser, creed; Steve Blackwell, extemporaneous; Rany Francis, prepared.

Plans for the Louisville Tractor Pull were also discussed. Members were questioned concerning raising 200 bushels of corn on their own farm. Those accomplishing the goal would be responsible to farm 200 bushels for the club.

Nominations for FFA Queen were Made. Qualifications require the nominee be a junior or senior in high school and have some farming background. A date for the banquet was suggested.

Other business discussed was intramural sports, skating party and buying a movie camera.

Refreshments were served to members after the meeting.

History Of Lighting Senior Citizen Program

Members and friends of Pickaway Senior Center held their monthly all day social meeting thrusday at Trinity Lutheran Parish House. One hundred and six members and six guests enjoyed visiting, sewing, playing cards and other games during the morning hours.

Mrs. Pauline Jones, chaplain, led in the table blessing before lunchtime. Mrs. Ethel Lane was in charge of making the coffee and tea for the group.

Immediately after lunch, Bev Conrad, gave a short talk about ceramics and did a demonstration of how greenware pieces are made in a mold. Class members who have been working with ceramics for the past 15 months had brought finished pieces for display. Mrs. Conrad invited anyone interested in trying ceramic work, to come to the Senior Citizens class every Monday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Lessions that afternoon are free and the cost of greenware and paint and firing is half price. Brushes and cleaning tools will be available for the first several visits but persons continuing with the work are expected to furnish their own. The cost is minimal. For more information, call the Center at 474-4916.

Speaker for the afternoon was William Woodward of Canal Winchester. He is a self-employed investment counselor whose hobby for many years has been the study of lighting devices. Using slides he showed pictures of the earliest types of oil lamps known, dating back to the times before Christ. One interesting lamp was embossed with palm leaves and a fish, early symbols of Christians. Through the years people discovered more efficient ways of designing and placing wicks, and controlling the flow of oil, and then when they couldn't improve on those any more, they contrived various ways of making their lamps fancier or prettier. Mr. Woodward pointed out many of the labor and energy saving tricks which he highly recommended to the audience, and which undoubtedly will never be used. One of these was an ingenious device for collecting soot more easily, to be used with a flint and steel object to make sparks for lighting a fire. Another was a safe way to preserve a flame throughout the night so the lady of the house wouldn't have to get up several times during the night to replenish to oil to have a flame to use to prepare breakfast for her family.

Mr. Woodward has a large collection of lighting devices and many of them can be seen on display at the Center of Science and Industry in Columbus. These were purchased from him by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. who hires him as the curator for the display and also pays his expenses when he gives talks at various places.

Following Mr. Woodward's presentation, the Kitchen Band entertained the group. The band has four invitations to play during the next month. They would like to have some new members. Anyone interested may call the Center for more information.

John Miranda, president of membership of the Center, conducted a short business meeting. Mrs. Bea Bach was appointed to fill out the term of secretary, replacing Garnet Ridgeway who resigned. Mrs. Blanche Kerns was elected to be chairman of the building fund. A model Center building had been constructed by Merton Lorentz and will be available at all meetings for contributions. The money will be put into a separate account to be used for needed items when the time comes that the Center has a place of its own.

Mrs. Lorentz explained about the Franciscan Meals program and asked for names of volunteers to drive as well as names of people who might benefit from receiving them. She also announced that there will be a bus trip to Eastland Shopping Center early in February. The date will be announced as soon as the bus arrangements can be made. The bus will leave the Center at 9 a.m. and will go via Ashville if there are enough members there who wish to be picked up.

She also thanked Fred Howell for his work in getting the card party facilities set up each month. Ernie Weller, Doc Heine and Cyrus Dille take turns in helping.

Mrs. Vera Saunders thanked Mrs. Helen Pickens for checking blood pressures that morning. This will be a service available each month instead of every three months. The members were also invited to Circleville Manor nursing home on the 1st and 3rd Thursdays from 2 to 3:30 p.m. to visit and sing for the patients there.

Weekly visits are also made on Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the American Legion, with the veterans, and Fridays at 1:30 p.m. at Pickaway Manor. A thank you note from Bob Jones was read, expressing appreciation for the help for Operation Rudolph at Christmas.

The group sang "Happy Birthday" to the following people present for their January birthday observances: Violet Phifer, Ethel Hoover, Clara DeLong, Nora Noise, Masel Gentzel and Bessie Good. Others having birthdays but not present were: Franceil Cromley, Mary Barr, Muriel Ott, Dewey Downs, Georgia Deal, Edna Kirkpatrick, M. Franklin Kibler, Marjorie Smith, Robert Jones, Margaret Shane, Delores Yaple, Gertrude Sanborn, Audra Harrington, Chet Starkey, Lena Congrove, Ruby Hagis, Harry Probasco, Ruth Andrews and Georgia Hott.

The next monthly meeting will be Feb. 28th. This will be a carry-in dinner at noon and the Chillicothe Senior Citizens' Kitchen Band will be guests for lunch and will entertain in the afternoon.

Husband's Night Plans Made By Child Study Club

Child Study Club held its January meeting in the home of Pat McGinnis, Jefferson Addition, with Julie Plum serving as co-hostess. The meeting was presided over by Lynne Mundy, president, who led a discussion of preparations for Husband's Night Out and the Spring Conference. Workshops for Spring Conference take place every Wednesday afternoon and evening through February in Pat McGinnis' home.

Mrs. George Bowling spoke to the group on "How Best To Prepare Your Child For School." The traveling door prize was won by Julie Plum. Eighteen members were present.

The next meeting will be February 20th, at 7:30 p.m. again in the home of Pat McGinnis, Shadwell Street, Jefferson Addition. It will be a combination workshop and election of officers.

Solaqua Garden Club Schedules Speaker

Don Archer of the Government Soil Conservation Service will be guest speaker for the 1:30 p.m. Friday meeting of Solaqua Garden Club at Ashville Coffee Shop.

Mr. Archer will use as his subject "Consider The Soil First." Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Glen Fausnaugh and Mrs. John Eitel.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hot Under Collar

DEAR ABBY: Being a minister of the Word of God, I don't have too many gripes, but when this individual called me today to perform a funeral service for a friend of his who doesn't even belong to my church, I blew my stack! I would rather do ten sermons or ten weddings than one funeral, and I'll tell you why.

Some people think nothing of spending $2,000 or $3,000 for a funeral, then they say to the preacher, "I won't embarrass you by offering you money, so I'll just say, "Thanks.' " Or else they say, "I'll be around to see you later." And that's the end of it.

This has happened to me so many times I am sick of it. Ministers have expenses like everyone else, but most people overlook that fact.

Thanks for letting me get this off my chest, Abby. And don't sign me "Pastor," I am not! I am a . . .

MINISTER OF GOD IN MINNESOTA

DEAR MINISTER: I'm glad you were able to write to me and get it off your chest. Only God knows what you might have done with all that resentment and hostility.

DEAR ABBY: Count me as one grandmother who would feel insulted if I were offered money to sit with my grandchildren. I also babysit with strangers for pay, and I could use extra money, but I would rather sit with my grandchildren for nothing.

PROUD GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Not all grandmothers can afford that luxury. Let's hear it from Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from "Working Mother" regarding paying the Grandmother for sitting with her baby.

I have eight grandchildren, and for most of my married life I have had to work to supplement my income. When each of our three children married I made it clear that I would be available to sit with their children in emergencies, but any other time, I would expect to be paid the same rate as any other sitter. This doesn't mean I don't love my grandchildren, it just means my time is as valuable to me as their time is to them, and I also need money to live on.

The younger generation seems to think that grandparents have nothing but time on their hands, and they are just dying to spend it on their grandchildren. My grandchildren are frequent visitors to our home. They are always welcome, and one of the little ones will stay overnight or for a weeking just for a treat, but if their parents plan an evening out and ask me to sit, they pay me the going rate. I wouldn't have it any other way and neither would they.

"Working Mother" should remember that grandparents are just parents grown a little older, a lot wearier, and no wealthier.

A GRANDMA LIBBER

Circleville OES Discusses Events

Plans for future events were made during the Tuesday evening meeting of Circleville Chapter 90 Order of the Eastern Star at the Masonic Temple.

Thelma Noecker, worthy matron, welcomed members and recognized Mary Radcliffe, Bonnie Rector, Beverly Currence, Pauline Hundley, Elaine Bowman, Chestora Peters, Margaret Shane, Leona Reigel and Kathryn Thomerson, past matrons; Clarence Radcliffe and Kenneth Reigel, past patrons.

Announcement was made of the 23rd District Meeting and School of Instruction to be held Feb. 9th at Chillicothe High School. The meeting will begin at 10:30 and the instruction at 1 p.m. Luncheon reservations may be made by contacting the secretary.

Mr. Noecker announced that Lida Ross will serve as the chapter representative for the Franciscan Community Meals program being organized in the city and county. Margaret Shane is chairman of the good cheer committee for the Circleville area.

A short memorial service was held with the altar draped in memory of Frank Miller, past grand patron. The charter was draped for member, Lura Seeds, who died recently.

At the close of the meeting a fellowship hour was enjoyed with a salad course serve by Murial and Robert Miller, chairmen of the refreshment committee.

Woman Is Selected For Council Vacancy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Helen C. Hinckley, defeated in November's Cincinnati City Council race, has been selected by the Hamilton County Republican party to fill a council vacancy.

She was picked to replace Willis D. Gradison Jr. who stepped down to seek GOP nomination to Congress from the first district.

Republicans control only two of the nine city council seats.

Retardation Board Director Speaker For Hospital Guild

Guest speaker for the Tuesday evening meeting of Berger Hospital Guild 20 in the home of Annabelle Mowery, Route 3, was Lamar Clevenger.

Mr. Clevenger, adminstrator of Pickaway County Mental Retardation Board, said that 107 people are serviced by the program at the present time. There are five parts of the service: home training, pre-school held in the Williamsport United Methodist Church, Brooks Yates School, workshop at the fairground and case management. The workshop is one of the leading facilities in the nation, recognized for the quality of work done there.

Funds to run the program come from three sources: levy, school districts from where pupils come and State Department of Mental Retardation.

Pickaway County residents from Orient State Institute attend the workshop.

There are five causes of mental retardation: virus or infection, injury at birth or accident, metabolism or malnutrition, prenatal unknown cause and chromosones.

The staff includes four classroom instructors and three special class teachers, speech or language therapy teacher, physical education teacher and music teacher.

Mr. Clevenger said it is very important that we refer to these people as individuals, not mentally retarted, blind etc.

Mr. Clevenger showed slides of the students at work and in all phases of the program.

Guild chairman, Annabelle Mowery, is a member of the Mental Retardation Board.

Refreshments were served following the program by the hostesses, Annabelle Mowery and Margaret Evans to the 13 members present.

Door prizes were won by Mary Walker, Alma McCoy and Pauline Hanson.

British Deal For Iranian Oil

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) — Britain has agreed to ship $220 million worth of goods to Iran in exchange for an additional 35 million barrels of Iranian crude oil.

The agreement, which is for 1974 and early 1975, was announced today by British Trade and Industry Minister Peter Walker after almost five hours of talks with Iranian officials.

Iran, which is not an Arab nation, has not taken part in the Arab oil boycott or cutbacks to industrialized nations. Iran is also said to be a heavy supplier of oil to Israel.

History Of Lighting Senior Citizen Program

Members and friends of Pickaway Senior Center held their monthly all day social meeting thrusday at Trinity Lutheran Parish House. One hundred and six members and six guests enjoyed visiting, sewing, playing cards and other games during the morning hours.

Mrs. Pauline Jones, chaplain, led in the table blessing before lunchtime. Mrs. Ethel Lane was in charge of making the coffee and tea for the group.

Immediately after lunch, Bev Conrad, gave a short talk about ceramics and did a demonstration of how greenware pieces are made in a mold. Class members who have been working with ceramics for the past 15 months had brought finished pieces for display. Mrs. Conrad invited anyone interested in trying ceramic work, to come to the Senior Citizens class every Monday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Lessions that afternoon are free and the cost of greenware and paint and firing is half price. Brushes and cleaning tools will be available for the first several visits but persons continuing with the work are expected to furnish their own. The cost is minimal. For more information, call the Center at 474-4916.

Speaker for the afternoon was William Woodward of Canal Winchester. He is a self-employed investment counselor whose hobby for many years has been the study of lighting devices. Using slides he showed pictures of the earliest types of oil lamps known, dating back to the times before Christ. One interesting lamp was embossed with palm leaves and a fish, early symbols of Christians. Through the years people discovered more efficient ways of designing and placing wicks, and controlling the flow of oil, and then when they couldn't improve on those any more, they contrived various ways of making their lamps fancier or prettier. Mr. Woodward pointed out many of the labor and energy saving tricks which he highly recommended to the audience, and which undoubtedly will never be used. One of these was an ingenious device for collecting soot more easily, to be used with a flint and steel object to make sparks for lighting a fire. Another was a safe way to preserve a flame throughout the night so the lady of the house wouldn't have to get up several times during the night to replenish to oil to have a flame to use to prepare breakfast for her family.

Mr. Woodward has a large collection of lighting devices and many of them can be seen on display at the Center of Science and Industry in Columbus. These were purchased from him by the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. who hires him as the curator for the display and also pays his expenses when he gives talks at various places.

Following Mr. Woodward's presentation, the Kitchen Band entertained the group. The band has four invitations to play during the next month. They would like to have some new members. Anyone interested may call the Center for more information.

John Miranda, president of membership of the Center, conducted a short business meeting. Mrs. Bea Bach was appointed to fill out the term of secretary, replacing Garnet Ridgeway who resigned. Mrs. Blanche Kerns was elected to be chairman of the building fund. A model Center building had been constructed by Merton Lorentz and will be available at all meetings for contributions. The money will be put into a separate account to be used for needed items when the time comes that the Center has a place of its own.

Mrs. Lorentz explained about the Franciscan Meals program and asked for names of volunteers to drive as well as names of people who might benefit from receiving them. She also announced that there will be a bus trip to Eastland Shopping Center early in February. The date will be announced as soon as the bus arrangements can be made. The bus will leave the Center at 9 a.m. and will go via Ashville if there are enough members there who wish to be picked up.

She also thanked Fred Howell for his work in getting the card party facilities set up each month. Ernie Weller, Doc Heine and Cyrus Dille take turns in helping.

Mrs. Vera Saunders thanked Mrs. Helen Pickens for checking blood pressures that morning. This will be a service available each month instead of every three months. The members were also invited to Circleville Manor nursing home on the 1st and 3rd Thursdays from 2 to 3:30 p.m. to visit and sing for the patients there.

Weekly visits are also made on Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the American Legion, with the veterans, and Fridays at 1:30 p.m. at Pickaway Manor. A thank you note from Bob Jones was read, expressing appreciation for the help for Operation Rudolph at Christmas.

The group sang "Happy Birthday" to the following people present for their January birthday observances: Violet Phifer, Ethel Hoover, Clara DeLong, Nora Noise, Masel Gentzel and Bessie Good. Others having birthdays but not present were: Franceil Cromley, Mary Barr, Muriel Ott, Dewey Downs, Georgia Deal, Edna Kirkpatrick, M. Franklin Kibler, Marjorie Smith, Robert Jones, Margaret Shane, Delores Yaple, Gertrude Sanborn, Audra Harrington, Chet Starkey, Lena Congrove, Ruby Hagis, Harry Probasco, Ruth Andrews and Georgia Hott.

The next monthly meeting will be Feb. 28th. This will be a carry-in dinner at noon and the Chillicothe Senior Citizens' Kitchen Band will be guests for lunch and will entertain in the afternoon.

Husband's Night Plans Made By Child Study Club

Child Study Club held its January meeting in the home of Pat McGinnis, Jefferson Addition, with Julie Plum serving as co-hostess. The meeting was presided over by Lynne Mundy, president, who led a discussion of preparations for Husband's Night Out and the Spring Conference. Workshops for Spring Conference take place every Wednesday afternoon and evening through February in Pat McGinnis' home.

Mrs. George Bowling spoke to the group on "How Best To Prepare Your Child For School." The traveling door prize was won by Julie Plum. Eighteen members were present.

The next meeting will be February 20th, at 7:30 p.m. again in the home of Pat McGinnis, Shadwell Street, Jefferson Addition. It will be a combination workshop and election of officers.

Solaqua Garden Club Schedules Speaker

Don Archer of the Government Soil Conservation Service will be guest speaker for the 1:30 p.m. Friday meeting of Solaqua Garden Club at Ashville Coffee Shop.

Mr. Archer will use as his subject "Consider The Soil First." Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Glen Fausnaugh and Mrs. John Eitel.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hot Under Collar

DEAR ABBY: Being a minister of the Word of God, I don't have too many gripes, but when this individual called me today to perform a funeral service for a friend of his who doesn't even belong to my church, I blew my stack! I would rather do ten sermons or ten weddings than one funeral, and I'll tell you why.

Some people think nothing of spending $2,000 or $3,000 for a funeral, then they say to the preacher, "I won't embarrass you by offering you money, so I'll just say, 'Thanks.' " Or else they say, "I'll be around to see you later." And that's the end of it.

This has happened to me so many times I am sick of it. Ministers have expenses like everyone else, but most people overlook that fact.

Thanks for letting me get this off my chest, Abby. And don't sign me "Pastor," I am not! I am a . . .

MINISTER OF GOD IN MINNESOTA

DEAR MINISTER: I'm glad you were able to write to me and get it off your chest. Only God knows what you might have done with all that resentment and hostility.

DEAR ABBY: Count me as one grandmother who would feel insulted if I were offered money to sit with my grandchildren. I also babysit with strangers for pay, and I could use extra money, but I would rather sit with my grandchildren for nothing.

PROUD GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Not all grandmothers can afford that luxury. Let's hear it from Calgary, Alberta, Canada.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from "Working Mother" regarding paying the Grandmother for sitting with her baby.

I have eight grandchildren, and for most of my married life I have had to work to supplement my income. When each of our three children married I made it clear that I would be available to sit with their children in emergencies, but any other time, I would expect to be paid the same rate as any other sitter. This doesn't mean I don't love my grandchildren, it just means my time is as valuable to me as their time is to them, and I also need money to live on.

The younger generation seems to think that grandparents have nothing but time on their hands, and they are just dying to spend it on their grandchildren. My grandchildren are frequent visitors to our home. They are always welcome, and one of the little ones will stay overnight or for a weeking just for a treat, but if their parents plan an evening out and ask me to sit, they pay me the going rate. I wouldn't have it any other way and neither would they.

"Working Mother" should remember that grandparents are just parents grown a little older, a lot wearier, and no wealthier.

A GRANDMA LIBBER

Circleville OES Discusses Events

Plans for future events were made during the Tuesday evening meeting of Circleville Chapter 90 Order of the Eastern Star at the Masonic Temple.

Thelma Noecker, worthy matron, welcomed members and recognized Mary Radcliffe, Bonnie Rector, Beverly Currence, Pauline Hundley, Elaine Bowman, Chestora Peters, Margaret Shane, Leona Reigel and Kathryn Thomerson, past matrons; Clarence Radcliffe and Kenneth Reigel, past patrons.

Announcement was made of the 23rd District Meeting and School of Instruction to be held Feb. 9th at Chillicothe High School. The meeting will begin at 10:30 and the instruction at 1 p.m. Luncheon reservations may be made by contacting the secretary.

Mr. Noecker announced that Lida Ross will serve as the chapter representative for the Franciscan Community Meals program being organized in the city and county. Margaret Shane is chairman of the good cheer committee for the Circleville area.

A short memorial service was held with the altar draped in memory of Frank Miller, past grand patron. The charter was draped for member, Lura Seeds, who died recently.

At the close of the meeting a fellowship hour was enjoyed with a salad course serve by Murial and Robert Miller, chairmen of the refreshment committee.

Woman Is Selected For Council Vacancy

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Helen C. Hinckley, defeated in November's Cincinnati City Council race, has been selected by the Hamilton County Republican party to fill a council vacancy.

She was picked to replace Willis D. Gradison Jr. who stepped down to seek GOP nomination to Congress from the first district.

Republicans control only two of the nine city council seats.

Retardation Board Director Speaker For Hospital Guild

Guest speaker for the Tuesday evening meeting of Berger Hospital Guild 20 in the home of Annabelle Mowery, Route 3, was Lamar Clevenger.

Mr. Clevenger, adminstrator of Pickaway County Mental Retardation Board, said that 107 people are serviced by the program at the present time. There are five parts of the service: home training, pre-school held in the Williamsport United Methodist Church, Brooks Yates School, workshop at the fairground and case management. The workshop is one of the leading facilities in the nation, recognized for the quality of work done there.

Funds to run the program come from three sources: levy, school districts from where pupils come and State Department of Mental Retardation.

Pickaway County residents from Orient State Institute attend the workshop.

There are five causes of mental retardation: virus or infection, injury at birth or accident, metabolism or malnutrition, prenatal unknown cause and chromosones.

The staff includes four classroom instructors and three special class teachers, speech or language therapy teacher, physical education teacher and music teacher.

Mr. Clevenger said it is very important that we refer to these people as individuals, not mentally retarted, blind etc.

Mr. Clevenger showed slides of the students at work and in all phases of the program.

Guild chairman, Annabelle Mowery, is a member of the Mental Retardation Board.

Refreshments were served following the program by the hostesses, Annabelle Mowery and Margaret Evans to the 13 members present.

Door prizes were won by Mary Walker, Alma McCoy and Pauline Hanson.

British Deal For Iranian Oil

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) — Britain has agreed to ship $220 million worth of goods to Iran in exchange for an additional 35 million barrels of Iranian crude oil.

The agreement, which is for 1974 and early 1975, was announced today by British Trade and Industry Minister Peter Walker after almost five hours of talks with Iranian officials.

Iran, which is not an Arab nation, has not taken part in the Arab oil boycott or cutbacks to industrialized nations. Iran is also said to be a heavy supplier of oil to Israel.

TV's Assistant Principal Talks About Student Body

By RON CATRON

"On an over all basis, the student body at Teays Valley is very responsive and willing to work. Student discipline is no problem at TV; the student body is well behaved," said Phillip Everett, Teays Valley's assistant principal.

Everett has a good background in teaching and school administration. He has taught at Circleville High School and Roosevelt Jr. High in Columbus. Also, he was assistant principal at Worthington High School.

As assistant principal, Everett is in charge of the attendance records and all the duties at TV in case something should come up and the principal, Bill Toney, would not be available.

Everett is an avid sports spectator and is very pleased with the basketball team's standing. He also enjoys working on his farm in the summer months.

"Try to do what is right as you understand right to be. A person should make an honest effort to do the best at what he is doing if he is going to succeed in life," said Everett.

Youth Officers Selected From Teays Valley

"Some of my goals for the coming year are to improve our services to Berger Hospital and to find more community areas to help," said Bonnie Hall, the recently elected president of the Pickaway Chapter of the Red Cross Youth.

The other officers are Joyce Woolever, vice-president and Valerie Houser, secretary. "It is very unusual that all the officers are from Teays Valley, considering there are 45 members representing six other schools in the county," remarked Miss Hall.

The school representative is Melissa Plum.

The goals of the organization are to help at the Blood Bank and Berger Hospital, assisting patients and visiting with them.

Miss Hall concluded by saying, "If anyone is interested in becoming a volunteer or wants to know more about Red Cross, they should call 474-5736."

Little Vikes Look Toward Rest Of Season

By ROBERT SALYERS

"We'll have a good team if all the boys work hard enough," was Coach Robert Fullen's reply when asked how he felt about the Little Vikes' remaining season.

The team has done well so far this year. The players on the eighth grade basketball team are: Bill Dowell, Duane Hettinger, Don Von Imes, Duane Keller, Ron Little, John Pabst, Rick Queen, Dan Schooley, Dennis Werner, and John Woodruff.

Some of the players were asked about the remaining games. Their replies were, "I think we will have a winning season," said Bill Dowell. Ron Little replied, "I think we have a better team this year than last year, and we will go all the way."

The upcoming season will be a tough one, so good luck Little Vikes.

Here is the remaining Junior High schedule: Jan. 24 - West Jefferson; Jan. 31 - Mt. Sterling; Feb. 7 - Dublin.

Highway Death Surge Doesn't Mean Reversal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The surge in highway deaths in Ohio last weekend doesn't mean a reversal in the trend toward lower fatality levels, a state official said today.

Frederick A. Vierow, acting director of the Ohio Department of Highway Safety, said reduced speeds and fewer cars on the highways, a result of the energy crisis, could keep the death tolls down in the future.

A dozen persons were killed on the state's highways last weekend.

During the first three weekends of 1974, 21 persons died on highways in the state, compared with 58 for the same three weekends in 1973, Vierow said.

Tax Recommittal Backed By Taft

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, voted with the majority Thursday when the Senate sent back to committee and almost certain death a bill containing an increase in personal income tax exemptions.

Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, voted against recommittal.

Ten Teays Valley Seniors Speak Out On Graduation

By JANET STRUCKMAN and TERESA OHOL

We have chosen ten of this year's seniors to interview. In the interview, we asked them what their plans were after graduation.

Teresa Ohol is going to Florida right after graduation for a three-week stay. Afterwards, she is planning to get a secretarial job which she has prepared herself for by taking typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping. In January, 1975, she will attend Capital University and major in elementary education. She plans to go to school half of the day and work the other half.

Teresa's comment on graduation is "I say this with no reservation, I will be glad to leave and never return except for football and basketball games."

Janet Struckman would like to enlist into the service. She chose this because she feels that it does everybody good to learn to accept responsibilities, and it would open more fields to her in later years. She would like to go to an airline school and get a good job at an airport because she likes to meet people.

She has taken two years of typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping which will help in getting a good job. Janet's comment on graduation is "I am glad to be graduating this year, but I will miss TV and the people."

Pat Berger is going to Florida for the summer and afterwards, plans on going to a technical school and take up carpentry work. He has chosen this because he helps his father and uncle and likes the work. Pat has taken three years of wood classes which will help him. He is now working at a greenhouse and has some money saved for Florida and school. His comment on graduation is "I want to graduate."

Roxanne Stir has been accepted at Capital University where she will be majoring in nursing. She feels that nursing will be exciting and she wants to work with people. She chose Capital because she was there for Girl's State and she likes the campus. She has prepared for college by taking the college prep courses here at TV. She said "I want to graduate, but I will miss the school and the people."

"I can't wait to graduate," said Denise Hay who plans to get married after graduation on June 15. She will keep her present job at Woolworths. She thought about going to nursing school but wants to be a full-time wife.

Karl Snyder is planning on going to Ohio State University and major in education. He chose this field because he wants to keep in contact with the youth of America. He feels that TV has prepared him as well as can be expected with the funds that they have. He likes OSU, because it has the best McDonalds.

Karl would like to teach at TV because he feels that that is the main problem with students. They say that once they graduate, they are leaving TV and never coming back. Karl wants to change that. He goes on to say, "graduation itself will be fine, but the ceremonies will be a fantastic waste of money."

Vicki Smith wants to get a summer job to earn some money to go to a technical school and take either modeling or cosmetology. She chose modeling because she feels that it will be the most exciting. She has taken Home Ec. which has helped her in modeling, clothing, and fashion. She has participated in the Fourth of July contest which has given her much experience. Vicki's comment on graduation is "I am glad it is over with, but I will miss my friends."

"I am glad to be graduating this year. I am glad that I won't have to get up at six in the morning," said Teresa Sawyer who feels that going to college would be a waste of time and money, so she wants to get a good secretarial job until she gets married. She has taken typing, bookkeeping, and office practice in order to prepare herself for a good job. She is working toward getting a new car.

Richard Fisher plans to work at Federal Glass after he graduates. He plans to be married soon after that but hasn't set a date as of yet. If he can't find a good job, he will enlist into the Army. His father would like him to go into the Army because he was an Army man and he thinks it would be a good experience. He goes on to say "I can't wait to get out. I don't like school."

"I will be glad to get out, because I am looking forward to college," said Elaine Pfeiffer who plans on going to OSU or Capital University and major in psychology. She would like to get a job at Orient State Institute. She chose either these schools, because she doesn't want to live on campus and they are the closest to home. Elaine doesn't feel that school has prepared her for her major, because the school doesn't offer any psychology courses, but the school has prepared her to get into college.

After interviewing these few seniors, we found that most of them are ready to graduate and are prepared to go out into the world.

Armco Sales Hit Record

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. today reported record sales, earnings and production during 1973.

The company said it earned $107 million, or $3.38 per shre of common stock, on sales of $2.3 million.

In 1972 it earned $75.6 million, or $2.28 per common share, on sales of $1.9 billion.

The company said fourth-quarter earnings were $27.7 million, or .86 per share, on sales of $662 million.

This compared with fourth-quarter earnings the previous year of $21.5 million, or $.66 per share, on sales of $506.6 million.

In 1973, the company said, it produced 9.5 million tons of raw steel, 11 per cent more than the previous year.

Gas Taxes Distributed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio distributed over $11 million in adjusted gasoline tax revenues to its cities, villages, counties and townships, in January the state Auditor reported today.

Joseph T. Ferguson said it was the largest amount to be delivered in the state's history.

He said the gasoline tax distributions are adjusted every year according to the number of vehicles registered within the boundaries of the municipalities.

They receive one dollar for each vehicle, he said.

Gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes, Ferguson said.

Wish Speedy Recovery

The teachers and students at Teays Valley wish a speedy recovery to special education teacher Forrest Webster who has been in Riverside Hospital, Columbus, since a head-on collision on Route 23 on Jan. 8.

Webster was badly injured in the accident and was listed in serious condition for several days afterwards. He had been transferred from the intensive care unit at the hospital.

She chose this because she feels that it does everybody good to learn to accept responsibilities, and it would open more fields to her in later years. She would like to go to an airline school and get a good job at an airport because she likes to meet people.

She has taken two years of typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping which will help in getting a good job. Janet's comment on graduation is "I am glad to be graduating this year, but I will miss TV and the people."

Pat Berger is going to Florida for the summer and afterwards, plans on going to a technical school and take up carpentry work. He has chosen this because he helps his father and uncle and likes the work. Pat has taken three years of wood classes which will help him. He is now working at a greenhouse and has some money saved for Florida and school. His comment on graduation is "I want to graduate."

Roxanne Stir has been accepted at Capital University where she will be majoring in nursing. She feels that nursing will be exciting and she wants to work with people. She chose Capital because she was there for Girl's State and she likes the campus. She has prepared for college by taking the college prep courses here at TV. She said "I want to graduate, but I will miss the school and the people."

"I can't wait to graduate," said Denise Hay who plans to get married after graduation on June 15. She will keep her present job at Woolworths. She thought about going to nursing school but wants to be a full-time wife.

Karl Snyder is planning on going to Ohio State University and major in education. He chose this field because he wants to keep in contact with the youth of America. He feels that TV has prepared him as well as can be expected with the funds that they have. He likes OSU, because it has the best McDonalds.

Karl would like to teach at TV because he feels that that is the main problem with students. They say that once they graduate, they are leaving TV and never coming back. Karl wants to change that. He goes on to say, "graduation itself will be fine, but the ceremonies will be a fantastic waste of money."

Vicki Smith wants to get a summer job to earn some money to go to a technical school and take either modeling or cosmetology. She chose modeling because she feels that it will be the most exciting. She has taken Home Ec. which has helped her in modeling, clothing, and fashion. She has participated in the Fourth of July contest which has given her much experience. Vicki's comment on graduation is "I am glad it is over with, but I will miss my friends."

"I am glad to be graduating this year. I am glad that I won't have to get up at six in the morning," said Teresa Sawyer who feels that going to college would be a waste of time and money, so she wants to get a good secretarial job until she gets married. She has taken typing, bookkeeping, and office practice in order to prepare herself for a good job. She is working toward getting a new car.

Richard Fisher plans to work at Federal Glass after he graduates. He plans to be married soon after that but hasn't set a date as of yet. If he can't find a good job, he will enlist into the Army. His father would like him to go into the Army because he was an Army man and he thinks it would be a good experience. He goes on to say "I can't wait to get out. I don't like school."

"I will be glad to get out, because I am looking forward to college," said Elaine Pfeiffer who plans on going to OSU or Capital University and major in psychology. She would like to get a job at Orient State Institute. She chose either these schools, because she doesn't want to live on campus and they are the closest to home. Elaine doesn't feel that school has prepared her for her major, because the school doesn't offer any psychology courses, but the school has prepared her to get into college.

After interviewing these few seniors, we found that most of them are ready to graduate and are prepared to go out into the world.

Armco Sales Hit Record

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. today reported record sales, earnings and production during 1973.

The company said it earned $107 million, or $3.38 per shre of common stock, on sales of $2.3 million.

In 1972 it earned $75.6 million, or $2.28 per common share, on sales of $1.9 billion.

The company said fourth-quarter earnings were $27.7 million, or .86 per share, on sales of $662 million.

This compared with fourth-quarter earnings the previous year of $21.5 million, or $.66 per share, on sales of $506.6 million.

In 1973, the company said, it produced 9.5 million tons of raw steel, 11 per cent more than the previous year.

Gas Taxes Distributed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio distributed over $11 million in adjusted gasoline tax revenues to its cities, villages, counties and townships, in January the state Auditor reported today.

Joseph T. Ferguson said it was the largest amount to be delivered in the state's history.

He said the gasoline tax distributions are adjusted every year according to the number of vehicles registered within the boundaries of the municipalities.

They receive one dollar for each vehicle, he said.

Gasoline excise tax receipts can be used only for street and roadway purposes, Ferguson said.

Wish Speedy Recovery

The teachers and students at Teays Valley wish a speedy recovery to special education teacher Forrest Webster who has been in Riverside Hospital, Columbus, since a head-on collision on Route 23 on Jan. 8.

Webster was badly injured in the accident and was listed in serious condition for several days afterwards. He had been transferred from the intensive care unit at the hospital.

Circleville Cagers Top Greenfield, 59-53

Kris Kline hooped 22 points and Harold Reed tallied 19 to lead the Circleville Tigers to a 59-53 decision over visiting Greenfield Friday night in a tight defensive South Central Ohio League contest.

Circleville trailed twice in the game but, despite the closeness of the contest, the Roundtowners were in command most of the way.

Greenfield jumped out to a 2-0 lead on a pair of foul shots at the outset of the first quarter and held a 20-19 edge midway through the second canto.

But the lead was short in both cases as the Red and Black cagers took over in a hurry.

Circleville's biggest lead came in the final frame when the Tigers broke on top by 10 points and held on the rest of the way home.

It was Circleville on top 15-9 at the end of the first period, 31-26 at halftime and 43-36 at the third quarter buzzer.

Kline hit the nets for 11 of 19 shots from the floor for 22 markers and Reed tallied eight from the field and three from the charity stripe for 19. Perry Hoskins added 12 points and Robin Martin hit for six. Doug Radabaugh, the fifth starter, failed to score in the contest but held Greenfield's high scoring Bill Flynn in check before fouling out in the final frame.

Steve Willett paced Greenfield with 14 points, Flynn added 12, eight from the foul stripe, Steve Harvey and Jeff Holsinger both tallied 10, Gary Barr had six and Joe Stewart netted one.

The Red and Black cagers had a good night from the floor as they hit on 25 of 51 for 49 per cent. They connected on nine of 15 from the foul line for 60 per cent.

Greenfield sent the ball up 50 times but only 16 of the shots rippled the nets for a meager 32 per cent.

But the McClain boys had a good night at the charity stripe to keep them in the game. They converted 21 of 28 tosses for a respectable 75 per cent.

Greenfield went hard to the boards and pulled down 31 rebounds to 26 for Circleville. Willett and Harvey were the big rebounders for McClain while Reed grabbed 14 missed shots for the Red and Black.

Turnovers were close with Greenfield committing 19 and the Roundtowners misplaying the ball 17 times.

"I thought it was a fine defensive game on both sides," Circleville coach John Lawhorn commented. "Greenfield showed us that they are a tough club and stayed right with us all the way. Kline and Reed both did a fine job for us offensively and came up with key baskets when we needed them."

After Greenfield took the lead at the outset, Reed hooped seven points, Kline added six and Martin netted a pair of free throws to give the local Tigers a first period lead.

In the second canto, it was Reed, Kline and Hoskins putting points on the board to keep Circleville in the lead at halftime.

Kline, Hoskins and Martin lit the lights on the scoreboard for Circleville in the third period as the Red and Black went up by nine but Willett hit from underneath for Greenfield to cut the margin to seven at the buzzer.

Circleville upped its lead to 51-41 with 3:31 left in the game and Greenfield never came closer than five points the rest of the way.

Circleville lost Martin on fouls with 1:17 to play and Greenfield's Stewart fouled out at the 1:54 mark.

The Red and Black cagers are now 8-5 for the season and 5-4 in league play. They will be at Wilmington Friday night in a SCOL encounter.

Greenfield is now 3-5 in league play and 7-6 overall.

Undefeated Vikings Beat Marysville 66-47 Friday

Fifth ranked and unbeaten Teays Valley rumbled past the Marysville Monarchs 66-47 Friday and took dead aim on the Metropolitan League basketball title.

A win next Friday at Grandview will clinch the title for the Vikings. They have a 13-0 record and are 11-0 in the loop. Marysville is 5-7 overall and 5-6 in the league.

"It's good to win," commented coach Bob Hoover, already looking toward next week's games. "We've got a tough week coming up. Bexley here Tuesday and at Grandview Friday."

Last night the Vikings started off with a bang, going ahead 15-3. A bucket at the buzzer by a Monarch made the score 15-5 at the quarter break.

In the first few minutes of the second period the visitors outscored Teays Valley 11-2, pulling within one point. But that was the closest they got.

At halftime the Vikes were ahead 27-20, scored three quick buckets after the half to take a 33-20 lead and were never in serious trouble after. The score at the end of the third quarter was 44-30.

During the last half of the final period Hoover emptied his bench, getting everybody into the game except Jay Brinker who was sidelined last night with a badly sprained ankle.

The Vikings connected on 26 of 49 shots from the field, a 53 per cent accuracy rate and hooped 14 of 23 at the foul line.

Marysville made 16 of 53 shots from the field, just over 30 per cent and made 15 of 21 at the charity line. The Vikings controlled the rebounding pulling down 35 compared to 17 for the Monarchs. Teays Valley was charged for 12 turnovers and Marysville for 15.

Lee Stiles was given the starting nod in place of the injured Brinker Friday and came up with an 18 point scoring effort, the best for either team.

Also scoring in double figures for the Vikings were Jeff Anderson with 13 points and Jim Logsdon with 10. Rounding out the scoring, Craig Pontius tallied eight, Chuck Glitt, Bill Browning and Terry Collins and Terry Lambert four each, George Spohn one.

Logsdon was the leading rebounder with nine while Lambert led in the assist department with 10.

For the visitors, Jim Marsh tallied 17 points and Wade Bright hooped 10. Marsh was the leading rebounder for Marysville with five.

Teays Valley was charged with 18 personal fouls and Marysville with 21 by the officals.

The little Vikings won the reserve game, 41-37.

SUMMARY

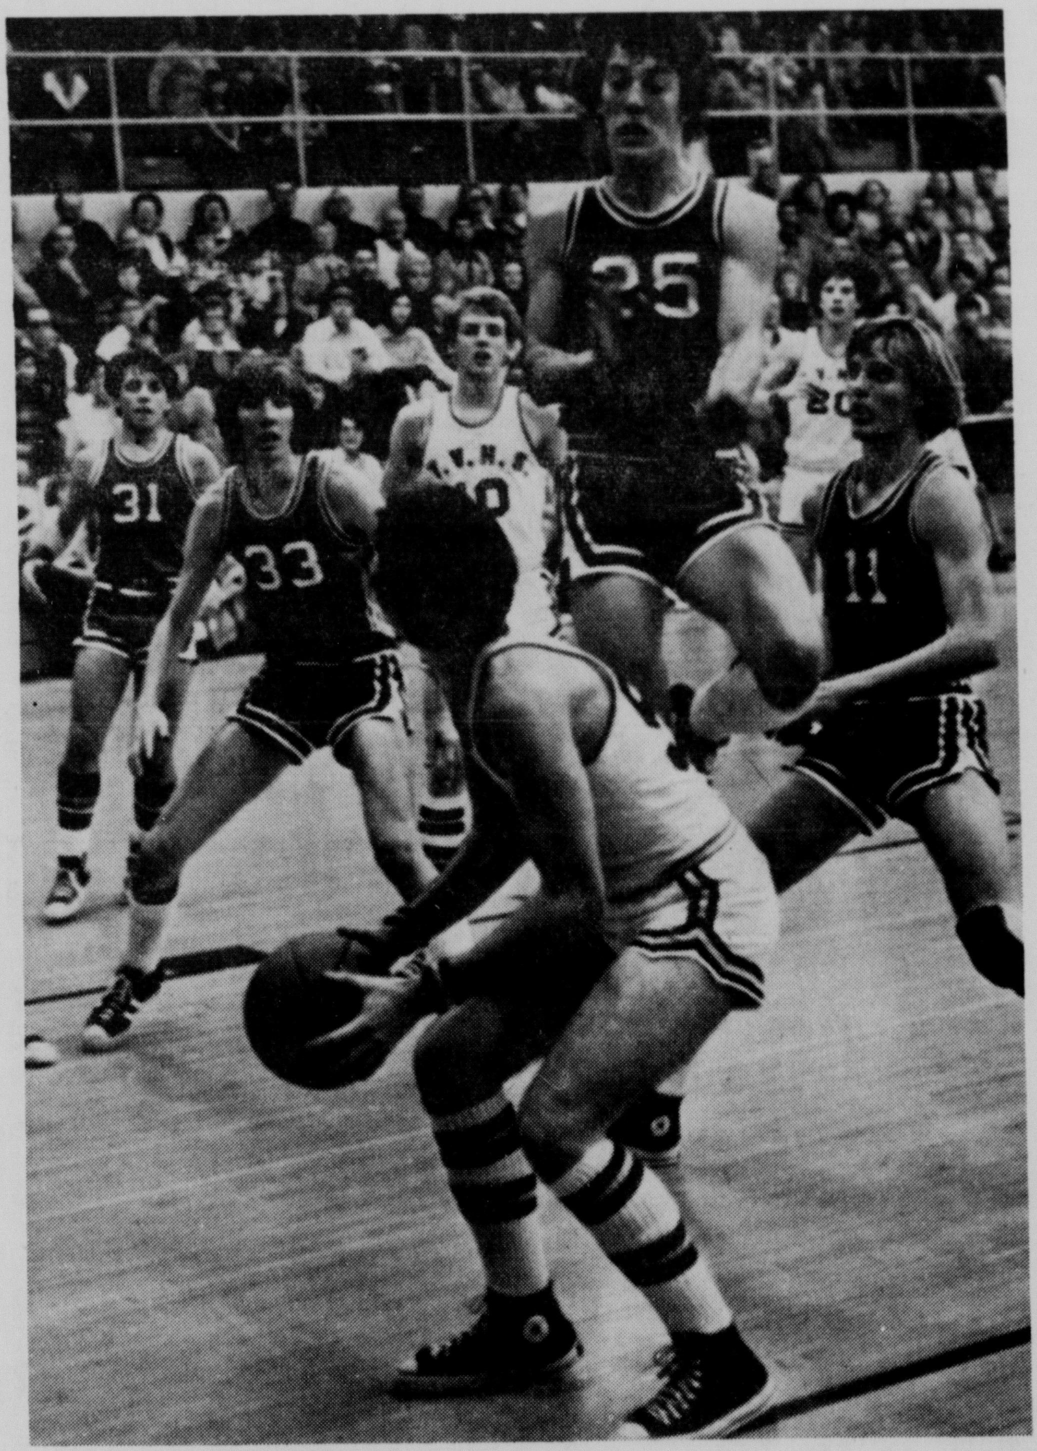
REBOUND—Terry Lambert (22) goes up for a rebound during the Viking-Monarch game at TVHS. Lambert, the floor leader for TV, had 10 big assists in the game.



COLLISION COURSE—Lee Stiles braces for the inevitable collision with Doug Iden (25) of Marysville during the Teays Valley-Marysville game. An instant later both were sprawling on the floor and Stiles stepped to the foul line. He led the Vikings to a 66-47 victory with an 18 point scoring effort. Other TV cagers in the picture are Craig Pontius (10) and Terry Collins (20).

Logan Elm Nipped By Irish, 68-64

Logan Elm's rally fell short at Lancaster Fisher Friday as the Braves lost to the Irish, 68-64.

The Braves trailed by 20 points early in the game. The score at the end of the first quarter was 25-10 and at halftime 35-19.

They battled back to close the gap to 50-45 by the end of the third quarter but couldn't gain the win.

Logan Elm is now 6-8 overall and 3-7 in the league. Fisher Catholic is 2-9 overall and 2-6 in the league.

Terry Crumley paced the Braves netting 18 points on eight field goals and two charity tosses. Scott Pontius scored 17, Mitch Martin 10, Mike Miller 11, Joe Stump four, Phil Manson and George Bauman two each.

The Braves made 27 of 68 shots from the field and pulled down 46 rebounds. Fisher players grabbed 57 rebounds.

Miller was the leading rebounder for LE with 15. Pontius had nine, Stump eight and Martin seven.

Logan Elm won the reserve game, 65-31. The reserves have an 8-2 league record and a 12-2 overall mark.

The next game for Logan Elm is Friday against visiting Liberty Union.

River Downs Hit By New Lawsuit

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Another lawsuit has been filed in the continuing court battle over the fate of the River Downs race track here.

Marvin Warner, president of Marvin Warner Enterprises, Inc., and a New York Yankees stockholder, filed the latest suit in Summit County Common Pleas Court at Akron against A.J. Andreoli, president of Transairco, Inc., former owner and operator of the track.

Warner's suit, filed Jan. 16, was first reported Friday.

Warner asks dismissal of a suit filed against him Dec. 14 by Andreoli and accuses Andreoli of attempting to damage his reputation.

The earlier suit charged that Warner, a friend of Ohio Gov. John Gilligan, had reneged on a $5 million loan. It asked $5 million in damages.

Andreoli's action claimed Warner used his "power, position and influence" to interfere with a loan he had sought from Home State Savings Association Oct. 5. The association is owned by Warner Enterprises.

The counterclaim, asking dismissal, claims Andreoli never meant to complete the transaction, but applied so the bank would tie up its funds.

Bulls Beat SuperSonics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dick Motta returned to his coaching duties and Bob Love passed a scoring landmark for the Chicago Bulls Friday night.

Motta, coming off a three-game suspension—and a $2,000 fine—for an altercation with game officials in Seattle, coached the Chicago Bulls to a 104-99 National Basketball Association victory over the Seattle SuperSonics Friday night.

One of the prime movers in the victory was Love, who scored 34 points and passed the 10,000-point mark for his career. Spencer Haywood netted 33 points for Seattle.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Detroit Pistons edged the Houston Rockets 93-89, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings beat the Buffalo Braves 118-113, the Boston Celtics whipped the Philadelphia 76ers 112-97, the Los Angeles Lakers outscored the Capital Bullets 143-124, the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Portland Trail Blazers 87-84 and the Milwaukee Bucks defeated the Phoenix Suns 112-108.

Mustangs Come From Behind To Top Berne Union

Westfall came from behind to defeat visiting Berne Union Friday, 62-58. It was the third victory for the Mustangs in 12 starts this season.

The loss leaves the Rockets from Fairfield County with a 6-6 record. They are coached by Ray Mowery, a graduate of Westfall.

Game scoring laurels went to Clark Dupler who hooped 11 buckets from the field and 10 from the foul line for a total of 32 points. He is one of the leading scorers in central Ohio. Joe Moody scored 16 for the losers, but they got little support from the other players who totaled only 10 points.

The Westfall come back was paced by Joe Angles who scored 18 of his 20 points in the second.

Doug Williams and Brad Beatty scored 12 each, Jeff Davis, Jim Picklesimer and Dave Shannon six each.

The Mustangs played without their leading scorer, Jay Clark who had an injured knee.

"I think the seniors wanted to win this one for Jay," Westfall Coach Mike Eckle said when reporting the game.

Westfall trailed 9-8 at the end of the first period and 31-22 at halftime. At the start of the third quarter they trailed 43-40 and it was not until there was 5:34 to go that they got their first lead in the final period. With three seconds left, Beatty canned both eands of a one and one to ice the victory.

The Mustangs made only four of 16 shots the first quarter but scored the nets at a 55 per cent clip for the rest of the ball game. They made 28 of 60 shots from the field for an overall 47 per cent shooting rate. At the foul line they made six of 11.

Berne Union made 23 of 48 shots from the field for a 48 per cent average and converted 12 of 16 free throws.

In addition to his 20 points, Angles had 14 rebounds. Beatty grabbed six rebounds. Westfall led Berne Union 35-27 in the rebounding department.

The Mustangs were charged with 22 turnovers, 16 of them coming the first half. The Rockets had 25 turnovers.

The Little Mustangs won the reserve game, 66-33. Kevin Reed was the leading scorer.

SUMMARY

Circleville Cagers Top Greenfield, 59-53

Kris Kline hooped 22 points and Harold Reed tallied 19 to lead the Circleville Tigers to a 59-53 decision over visiting Greenfield Friday night in a tight defensive South Central Ohio League contest.

Circleville trailed twice in the game but, despite the closeness of the contest, the Roundtowners were in command most of the way.

Greenfield jumped out to a 2-0 lead on a pair of foul shots at the outset of the first quarter and held a 20-19 edge midway through the second canto.

But the lead was short in both cases as the Red and Black cagers took over in a hurry.

Circleville's biggest lead came in the final frame when the Tigers broke on top by 10 points and held on the rest of the way home.

It was Circleville on top 15-9 at the end of the first period, 31-26 at halftime and 43-36 at the third quarter buzzer.

Kline hit the nets for 11 of 19 shots from the floor for 22 markers and Reed tallied eight from the field and three from the charity stripe for 19. Perry Hoskins added 12 points and Robin Martin hit for six. Doug Radabaugh, the fifth starter, failed to score in the contest but held Greenfield's high scoring Bill Flynn in check before fouling out in the final frame.

Steve Willett paced Greenfield with 14 points, Flynn added 12, eight from the foul stripe, Steve Harvey and Jeff Holsinger both tallied 10, Gary Barr had six and Joe Stewart netted one.

The Red and Black cagers had a good night from the floor as they hit on 25 of 51 for 49 per cent. They connected on nine of 15 from the foul line for 60 per cent.

Greenfield sent the ball up 50 times but only 16 of the shots rippled the nets for a meager 32 per cent.

But the McClain boys had a good night at the charity stripe to keep them in the game. They converted 21 of 28 tosses for a respectable 75 per cent.

Greenfield went hard to the boards and pulled down 31 rebounds to 26 for Circleville. Willett and Harvey were the big rebounders for McClain while Reed grabbed 14 missed shots for the Red and Black.

Turnovers were close with Greenfield committing 19 and the Roundtowners misplaying the ball 17 times.

"I thought it was a fine defensive game on both sides," Circleville coach John Lawhorn commented. "Greenfield showed us that they are a tough club and stayed right with us all the way. Kline and Reed both did a fine job for us offensively and came up with key baskets when we needed them."

Kline, Hoskins and Martin lit the lights on the scoreboard for Circleville in the third period as the Red and Black went up by nine but Willett hit from underneath for Greenfield to cut the margin to seven at the buzzer.

Circleville upped its lead to 51-41 with 3:31 left in the game and Greenfield never came closer than five points the rest of the way.

Circleville lost Martin on fouls with 1:17 to play and Greenfield's Stewart fouled out at the 1:54 mark.

The Red and Black cagers are now 8-5 for the season and 5-4 in league play. They will be at Wilmington Friday night in a SCOL encounter.

Greenfield is now 3-5 in league play and 7-6 overall.

Undefeated Vikings Beat Marysville 66-47 Friday

Fifth ranked and unbeaten Teays Valley rumbled past the Marysville Monarchs 66-47 Friday and took dead aim on the Metropolitan League basketball title.

A win next Friday at Grandview will clinch the title for the Vikings. They have a 13-0 record and are 11-0 in the loop. Marysville is 5-7 overall and 5-6 in the league.

"It's good to win," commented coach Bob Hoover, already looking toward next week's games. "We've got a tough week coming up. Bexley here Tuesday and at Grandview Friday."

Last night the Vikings started off with a bang, going ahead 15-3. A bucket at the buzzer by a Monarch made the score 15-5 at the quarter break.

In the first few minutes of the second period the visitors outscored Teays Valley 11-2, pulling within one point. But that was the closest they got.

At halftime the Vikes were ahead 27-20, scored three quick buckets after the half to take a 33-20 lead and were never in serious trouble after. The score at the end of the third quarter was 44-30.

During the last half of the final period Hoover emptied his bench, getting everybody into the game except Jay Brinker who was sidelined last night with a badly sprained ankle.

The Vikings connected on 26 of 49 shots from the field, a 53 per cent accuracy rate and hooped 14 of 23 at the foul line.

Marysville made 16 of 53 shots from the field, just over 30 per cent and made 15 of 21 at the charity line. The Vikings controlled the rebounding pulling down 35 compared to 17 for the Monarchs. Teays Valley was charged for 12 turnovers and Marysville for 15.

Lee Stiles was given the starting nod in place of the injured Brinker Friday and came up with an 18 point scoring effort, the best for either team.

Also scoring in double figures for the Vikings were Jeff Anderson with 13 points and Jim Logsdon with 10. Rounding out the scoring, Craig Pontius tallied eight, Chuck Glitt, Bill Browning and Terry Collins and Terry Lambert four each, George Spohn one.

Logsdon was the leading rebounder with nine while Lambert led in the assist department with 10.

For the visitors, Jim Marsh tallied 17 points and Wade Bright hooped 10. Marsh was the leading rebounder for Marysville with five.

Teays Valley was charged with 18 personal fouls and Marysville with 21 by the offficals.

The little Vikings won the reserve game, 41-37.

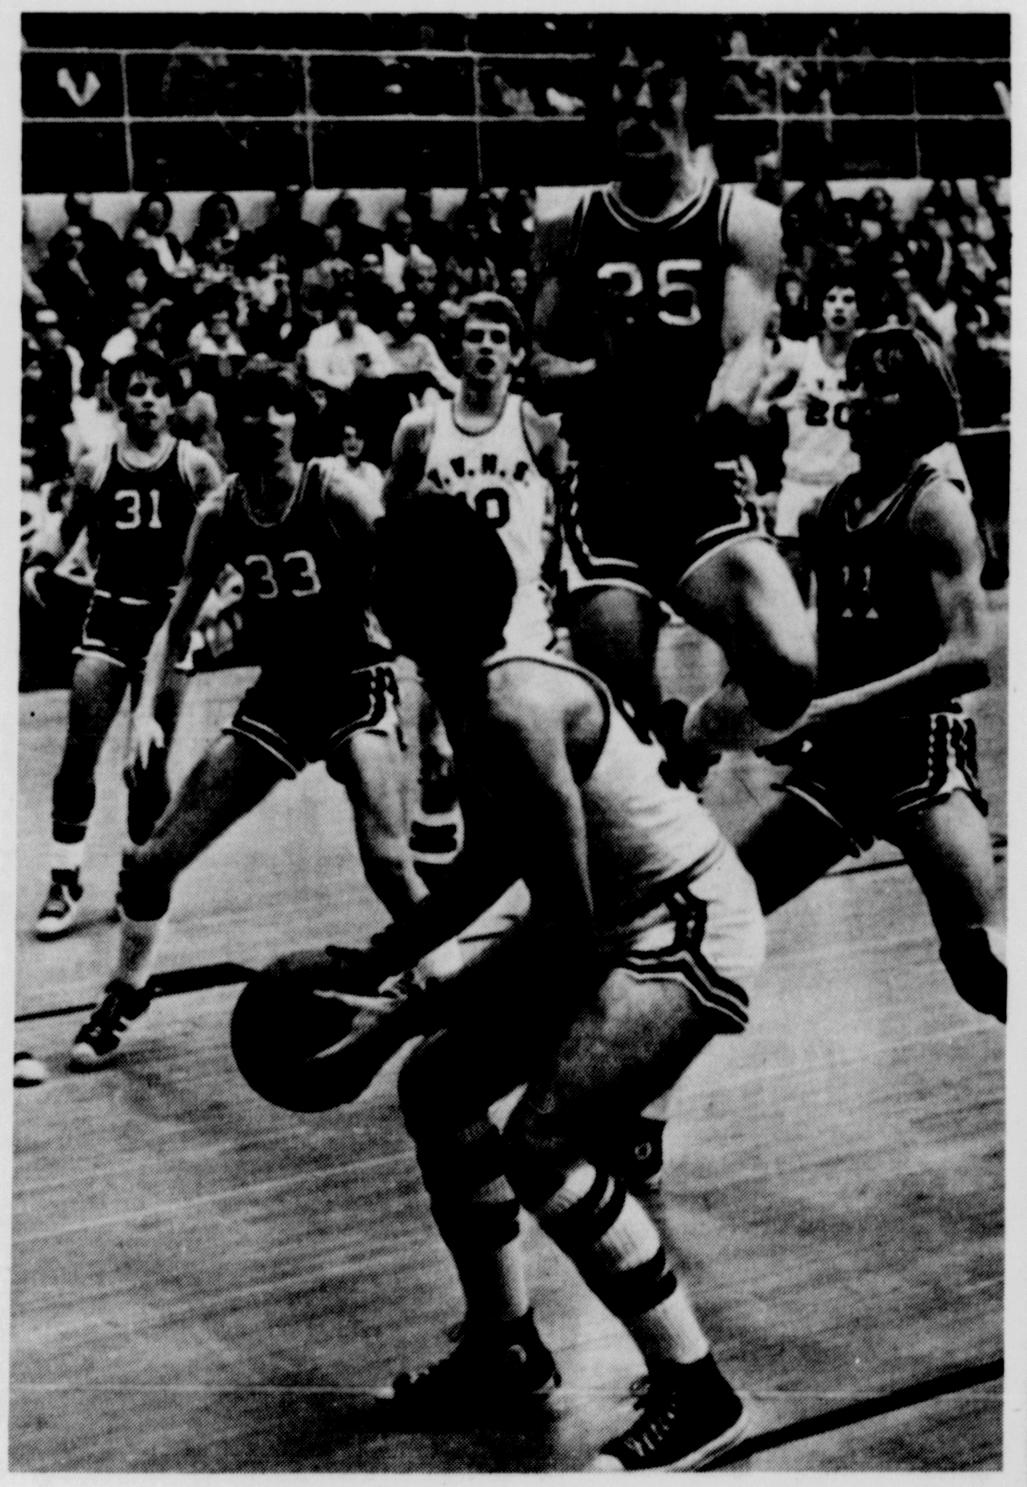
REBOUND—Terry Lambert (22) goes up for a rebound during the Viking-Monarch game at TVHS. Lambert, the floor leader for TV, had 10 big assists in the game.



COLLISION COURSE—Lee Stiles braces for the inevitable collision with Doug Iden (25) of Marysville during the Teays Valley-Marysville game. An instant later both were sprawling on the floor and Stiles stepped to the foul line. He led the Vikings to a 66-47 victory with an 18 point scoring effort. Other TV cagers in the picture are Craig Pontius (10) and Terry Collins (20).

Logan Elm Nipped By Irish, 68-64

Logan Elm's rally fell short at Lancaster Fisher Friday as the Braves lost to the Irish, 68-64.

The Braves trailed by 20 points early in the game. The score at the end of the first quarter was 25-10 and at halftime 35-19.

They battled back to close the gap to 50-45 by the end of the third quarter but couldn't gain the win.

Logan Elm is now 6-8 overall and 3-7 in the league. Fisher Catholic is 2-9 overall and 2-6 in the league.

Terry Crumley paced the Braves netting 18 points on eight field goals and two charity tosses. Scott Pontius scored 17, Mitch Martin 10, Mike Miller 11, Joe Stump four, Phil Manson and George Bauman two each.

The Braves made 27 of 68 shots from the field and pulled down 46 rebounds. Fisher players grabbed 57 rebounds.

Miller was the leading rebounder for LE with 15. Pontius had nine, Stump eight and Martin seven.

Logan Elm won the reserve game, 65-31. The reserves have an 8-2 league record and a 12-2 overall mark.

The next game for Logan Elm is Friday against visiting Liberty Union.

River Downs Hit By New Lawsuit

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Another lawsuit has been filed in the continuing court battle over the fate of the River Downs race track here.

Marvin Warner, president of Marvin Warner Enterprises, Inc., and a New York Yankees stockholder, filed the latest suit in Summit County Common Pleas Court at Akron against A.J. Andreoli, president of Transairco, Inc., former owner and operator of the track.

Warner's suit, filed Jan. 16, was first reported Friday.

Warner asks dismissal of a suit filed against him Dec. 14 by Andreoli and accuses Andreoli of attempting to damage his reputation.

The earlier suit charged that Warner, a friend of Ohio Gov. John Gilligan, had reneged on a $5 million loan. It asked $5 million in damages.

Andreoli's action claimed Warner used his "power, position and influence" to interfere with a loan he had sought from Home State Savings Association Oct. 5. The association is owned by Warner Enterprises.

The counterclaim, asking dismissal, claims Andreoli never meant to complete the transaction, but applied so the bank would tie up its funds.

Bulls Beat SuperSonics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dick Motta returned to his coaching duties and Bob Love passed a scoring landmark for the Chicago Bulls Friday night.

Motta, coming off a three-game suspension—and a $2,000 fine—for an altercation with game officials in Seattle, coached the Chicago Bulls to a 104-99 National Basketball Association victory over the Seattle SuperSonics Friday night.

One of the prime movers in the victory was Love, who scored 34 points and passed the 10,000-point mark for his career. Spencer Haywood netted 33 points for Seattle.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Detroit Pistons edged the Houston Rockets 93-89, the Kansas City-Omaha Kings beat the Buffalo Braves 118-113, the Boston Celtics whipped the Philadelphia 76ers 112-97, the Los Angeles Lakers outscored the Capital Bullets 143-124, the Cleveland Cavaliers beat the Portland Trail Blazers 87-84 and the Milwaukee Bucks defeated the Phoenix Suns 112-108.

Mustangs Come From Behind To Top Berne Union

Westfall came from behind to defeat visiting Berne Union Friday, 62-58. It was the third victory for the Mustangs in 12 starts this season.

The loss leaves the Rockets from Fairfield County with a 6-6 record. They are coached by Ray Mowery, a graduate of Westfall.

Game scoring laurels went to Clark Dupler who hooped 11 buckets from the field and 10 from the foul line for a total of 32 points. He is one of the leading scorers in central Ohio. Joe Moody scored 16 for the losers, but they got little support from the other players who totaled only 10 points.

The Westfall come back was paced by Joe Angles who scored 18 of his 20 points in the second.

Doug Williams and Brad Beatty scored 12 each, Jeff Davis, Jim Picklesimer and Dave Shannon six each.

The Mustangs played without their leading scorer, Jay Clark who had an injured knee.

"I think the seniors wanted to win this one for Jay," Westfall Coach Mike Eckle said when reporting the game.

Westfall trailed 9-8 at the end of the first period and 31-22 at halftime. At the start of the third quarter they trailed 43-40 and it was not until there was 5:34 to go that they got their first lead in the final period. With three seconds left, Beatty canned both eands of a one and one to ice the victory.

The Mustangs made only four of 16 shots the first quarter but scored the nets at a 55 per cent clip for the rest of the ball game. They made 28 of 60 shots from the field for an overall 47 per cent shooting rate. At the foul line they made six of 11.

Berne Union made 23 of 48 shots from the field for a 48 per cent average and converted 12 of 16 free throws.

In addition to his 20 points, Angles had 14 rebounds. Beatty grabbed six rebounds. Westfall led Berne Union 35-27 in the rebounding department.

The Mustangs were charged with 22 turnovers, 16 of them coming the first half. The Rockets had 25 turnovers.

The Little Mustangs won the reserve game, 66-33. Kevin Reed was the leading scorer.

CHS Reserves Gain 13th Cage Victory

Hustle and aggressive play paid off for the Circleville reserves as they ran their season cage mark to 13-0 with a convincing 54-41 win over visiting Greenfield Friday night.

It was the local Tigers all the way as they led 17-10 at the end of the first quarter, 27-19 at halftime and 50-34 at the third canto buzzer.

Biff Bumgarner and Danny Marshall each tallied 14 points to pace the Red and Black, George Moore added 11, Mike McCoy had eight, Brent Mancini hooped five and Warren Yamarick netted two.

Nelson had 16 and Jones 11 to lead the Greenfield cagers.

Circleville will be going after its 14th straight win Friday night when the Tigers travel to Wilmington to take on the Hurricane.

UCLA, Notre Dame Clash Again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA and Notre Dame stage college basketball's third "Game of the Year" tonight but for Bruin Coach John Wooden it's only the most important game this week.

"This is not a grudge match we have with Notre Dame," Wooden said after his 14-1 Bruins routed Santa Clara, 96-54, Friday night at Pauley Pavilion. "To us, the next most important game on our schedule is the conference game against Southern Cal next week."

UCLA takes a one-game winning streak against the Fighting Irish, the team that broke the 88-game winning streak last Saturday, 71-70, at South Bend, Ind.

Coach Digger Phelps brought his top-ranked Notre Dame squad, 12-0, to Los Angeles late Friday afternoon but they spent the evening somewhere other than Pauley Paviolion, where the Bruins recorded their 59th consecutive homecourt triumph.

The homecourt advantage helps make UCLA a 14-point favorite to regain No. 1 billing in the polls. The nationally televised game starts at 11:30 p.m., EDT.

In earlier so-called games of the year, UCLA beat then No. 2 North Carolina State, 84-66 and blew an 11-point lead at Notre Dame, also then rated No. 2. Before each of those games, Wooden pointed to the importance of the Pacific-8 championship which would qualify the Bruins for a shot at an eighth straight NCAA title.

"I honestly expect us to beat Notre Dame," said Wooden, "but I also thought we would beat Notre Dame last week. I don't expect any runaway, but I don't think we'll have the same difficulties we had back there."

Seventeen-year-old Marques Johnson, a 6-foot-5½ freshman forward, was showcased against Santa Clara, hitting 10 of 11 shots for 20 points in a relief role.

Wooden said Johnson, who admits to defensive shortcomings, won't start tonight.

"We will start our regular team against Notre Dame if Tommy Curtis is over the upset stomach he had Friday night," said Wooden, who relieved Curtis with senior Greg Lee.

But if Bill Walton, Keith Wilkes & Co. need extra firepower, Wooden is certain to call on Johnson, just as Phelps has a freshman of his own in the wings.

Last week, when UCLA went ahead by 14 points, young Ray Martin took over at point guard and in the final minutes played a big role in Notre Dame's pressing defense.

In other college basketball games Friday, No. 10 Long Beach State rolled by UC-Irvine 82-58, No. 19 New Mexico, 13-3, defeated Wyoming 91-68, Arizona beat Brigham Young 93-91, Texas-El Paso edged Colorado State 53-52, and Stanford clobbered Denver University 108-62.

Professor Urges Decriminalization

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A University of Chicago professor who says "police have more important things to do than take care of drunks" spoke out for decriminalizing public intoxication Friday.

Norval Morris is a professor of law and criminology at the Chicago school. He was in Columbus to deliver a luncheon address at a conference on "The Effect of the Crime of Intoxication on the Criminal Justice System" at the Battelle Memorial Institute.

The professor said two million arrests a year are made for public drunkenness in the U.S., more than the number of arrests made for all serious crimes of violence and property combined.

Rather than burden police, jails and the court systems with drunk offenders, Morris said he favors "temporary care combined with whatever facilities a community is prepared to make available for treatment on a voluntary basis."

Chairman Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Martin Hughes of Cleveland was elected chairman of the Ohio Board of Building Standards Friday. Ronald Smallwood of Dayton was named vice chairman and Helshel Davidson of Columbus, executive secretary.

Krogh Says Nixon Gave No Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egil Krogh Jr. says he received no orders from President Nixon to send burglars into the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and that he has no information that could implicate the President.

But Krogh, sentenced Thursday to six months in prison for his role in the break-in, skirted the question of where the orders originated because the matter will come before the courts.

"I would simply say that I considered that a break-in was within the authority of the unit and that I did not act to foreclose one from occurring despite the opportunity to do so."

Asked if he had information that would implicate John D. Ehrlichman, his former boss and one-time top aide to Nixon — Krogh replied: "I don't know."

Ehrlichman had given the unit — known as the plumbers — authority to engage in covert activity to obtain information on Ellsberg, then identified as responsible for the leak of the Pentagon papers.

Ehrlichman has pleaded innocent to a California indictment charging conspiracy, burglary and perjury in the case. He is scheduled for trial in April along with David R. Young Jr. and G. Gordon Liddy.

Krogh had pleaded guilty to one count of conspiring to violate the rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist, whose files were rifled Sept. 3, 1971. Krogh could have been sentenced to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

But Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said "apart from this offense" Krogh's public service was exceptional and that he had been assigned "a wholly improper, illegal task ... by higher authority."

Krogh is the first high-level White House aide to be sent to prison in the Watergate aftermath.

As he had told Gesell earlier about his role in the burglary, Krogh told newsmen: "It was a terrible mistake on my part; I regret it more than I can say."

Woman Wires Teeth Shut

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Mrs. Jerry Conley, 36, of suburban Sharonville had her teeth wired together in an attempt to stop eating and lose weight.

"I have repeatedly tried dieting," said the 5-foot-6½ brunette who weighs 205 pounds.

"I have tried diet pills but they make me nervous. I realized that I was even mean to my husband and children."

She said she has gained 84 pounds in the last three years.

"Jerry (her husband) has been nagging me for a long time to lose weight," said the mother of four daughters and a son, all slender.

"But when I started screaming at the kids one day after having just a bowl of cottage cheese, he went to my purse and threw away the diet pills."

Mrs. Conley then read a report of a man who lost 112 pounds in 105 days by having his mouth wired shut.

She will be able to open her mouth enough to sip liquid diet food and clear soups through a straw, she said.

Kite Leads San Diego Golf Tourney

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A big smile spread across Tom Kite's face.

"It's fun to be leading, isn't it?" He asked after pulling away from close friend and old foe Ben Crenshaw in Friday's second round of the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open golf tournament.

Kite, a 24-year-old tour sophomore who is seeking his first professional victory, broke out of a tie with Crenshaw for the top spot and established a two-stroke lead over his former University of Texas teammate with a second round 70, two under par.

That sent him into the last two rounds over the 7,047-yard south course at the Torrey Pines Gold Club with a 135 total, nine under par.

Crenshaw, the 22-year-old rookie sensation who has won once and had a pair of second-place finishes in starts as a pro, fell out of a share of the lead when he could do no better than 72—137 in the bright, warm sunshine.

Bobby Nichols, Homero Blancas, John Schroeder and Leonard Thompson were tied at 138, three strokes off the pace. Schroeder had a sparkling 66, Nichols 69, Thompson 71 and Blancas 72.

Johnny Miller, who won the first three tournaments of the season, and Jack Nicklaus are not competing.

Kite, who once shared a national collegiate championship with Crenshaw, started quickly, built a four-stroke lead then had his troubles coming home.

He had one bogey on the front side, when his drive sliced into the trees, holed three putts in the 12-15 foot range for birdies and chipped up to one foot for still another.

But he played the back nine one over, three-putting once and making routine pars on the others.

Crenshaw's delicate putting touch—he had nine one-putt greens the day before—deserted him. He missed three times on par-saving putts on about 10 feet, made a couple from about the same distance for birdies and chipped up to 18 inches for his other.

San Diego Padres Off Shoestring

SAN DIEGO (AP) — For five years, the San Diego Padres have been a baseball team operating on a shoestring. No more.

"You can't buy superstars but it's a comfortable feeling to be operating with an owner worth $500 million," club president E.J. "Buzzie" Bavasi noted Friday.

He spoke at a news conference announcing purchase of the club by Ray A. Kroc, 71-year-old chairman of the McDonald's hamburger chain. The sale is subject to National League approval.

Kroc said reports of a $12 million sale price were "in the ball park."

C. Arnholt Smith paid $10 million for the expansion franchise in 1968 but ran the Padres on a tight budget as his own financial troubles mounted. Last year Smith was forced from control of the keystones of his financial holdings, U.S. National Bank and Westgate-California Corp.

With no television contract, low radio revenues, a limited farm system and little money to buy players, the Padres have finished last every season and never have drawn more than 644,000 fans.

But Bavasi predicted the ownership change would rouse the club out of its doldrums.

"It looks like we'll be able to revive the franchise with this man's spirit and money," he said. "You can pick up secondline players to fill gaps without hesitation. In the past we had to hesitate."

"We're going to give 'em hell," said Kroc, a lifelong baseball fan who has tried for nearly a decade to buy the Chicago Cubs. "I would hope the fans would want out-of-town games to be televised," he said. "I would be satisfied with an attendance of 750,000 this coming season. I hope we can grow from there."

San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson announced agreement on a new stadium lease, and said Kroc had agreed to keep the Padres in San Diego until at least 1980. Kroc said he would pay the indemnity if the team moved.

He said NL President Charles "Chub" Feeney telephoned him Thursday to congratulate him, "So I would assume he has covered it with the National League owners." The meeting is expected next Wednesday in San Francisco.

Pacers Top Memphis

Indiana forward George McGinnis likes a referee who likes players who like contact. And when he finds one, he reacts accordingly.

"The refereeing in this league has been inconsistent, but tonight they let me play," McGinnis said Friday night. To show his gratitude, he scored 32 points and led the Indiana Pacers to a 121-101 American Basketball Association victory over the Memphis Tams.

Krogh Says Nixon Gave No Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egil Krogh Jr. says he received no orders from President Nixon to send burglars into the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and that he has no information that could implicate the President.

But Krogh, sentenced Thursday to six months in prison for his role in the break-in, skirted the question of where the orders originated because the matter will come before the courts.

"I would simply say that I considered that a break-in was within the authority of the unit and that I did not act to foreclose one from occurring despite the opportunity to do so."

Asked if he had information that would implicate John D. Ehrlichman, his former boss and one-time top aide to Nixon — Krogh replied: "I don't know."

Ehrlichman had given the unit — known as the plumbers — authority to engage in covert activity to obtain information on Ellsberg, then identified as responsible for the leak of the Pentagon papers.

Ehrlichman has pleaded innocent to a California indictment charging conspiracy, burglary and perjury in the case. He is scheduled for trial in April along with David R. Young Jr. and G. Gordon Liddy.

Krogh had pleaded guilty to one count of conspiring to violate the rights of Dr. Lewis Fielding, Ellsberg's psychiatrist, whose files were rifled Sept. 3, 1971. Krogh could have been sentenced to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

But Judge Gerhard A. Gesell said "apart from this offense" Krogh's public service was exceptional and that he had been assigned "a wholly improper, illegal task ... by higher authority."

Krogh is the first high-level White House aide to be sent to prison in the Watergate aftermath.

As he had told Gesell earlier about his role in the burglary, Krogh told newsmen: "It was a terrible mistake on my part; I regret it more than I can say."

Woman Wires Teeth Shut

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Mrs. Jerry Conley, 36, of suburban Sharonville had her teeth wired together in an attempt to stop eating and lose weight.

"I have repeatedly tried dieting," said the 5-foot-6½ brunette who weighs 205 pounds.

"I have tried diet pills but they make me nervous. I realized that I was even mean to my husband and children."

She said she has gained 84 pounds in the last three years.

"Jerry (her husband) has been nagging me for a long time to lose weight," said the mother of four daughters and a son, all slender.

"But when I started screaming at the kids one day after having just a bowl of cottage cheese, he went to my purse and threw away the diet pills."

Mrs. Conley then read a report of a man who lost 112 pounds in 105 days by having his mouth wired shut.

She will be able to open her mouth enough to sip liquid diet food and clear soups through a straw, she said.

Kite Leads San Diego Golf Tourney

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A big smile spread across Tom Kite's face.

"It's fun to be leading, isn't it?" He asked after pulling away from close friend and old foe Ben Crenshaw in Friday's second round of the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open golf tournament.

Kite, a 24-year-old tour sophomore who is seeking his first professional victory, broke out of a tie with Crenshaw for the top spot and established a two-stroke lead over his former University of Texas teammate with a second round 70, two under par.

That sent him into the last two rounds over the 7,047-yard south course at the Torrey Pines Gold Club with a 135 total, nine under par.

Crenshaw, the 22-year-old rookie sensation who has won once and had a pair of second-place finishes in starts as a pro, fell out of a share of the lead when he could do no better than 72—137 in the bright, warm sunshine.

Bobby Nichols, Homero Blancas, John Schroeder and Leonard Thompson were tied at 138, three strokes off the pace. Schroeder had a sparkling 66, Nichols 69, Thompson 71 and Blancas 72.

Johnny Miller, who won the first three tournaments of the season, and Jack Nicklaus are not competing.

Kite, who once shared a national collegiate championship with Crenshaw, started quickly, built a four-stroke lead then had his troubles coming home.

He had one bogey on the front side, when his drive sliced into the trees, holed three putts in the 12-15 foot range for birdies and chipped up to one foot for still another.

But he played the back nine one over, three-putting once and making routine pars on the others.

Crenshaw's delicate putting touch—he had nine one-putt greens the day before—deserted him. He missed three times on par-saving putts on about 10 feet, made a couple from about the same distance for birdies and chipped up to 18 inches for his other.

San Diego Padres Off Shoestring

SAN DIEGO (AP) — For five years, the San Diego Padres have been a baseball team operating on a shoestring. No more.

"You can't buy superstars but it's a comfortable feeling to be operating with an owner worth $500 million," club president E.J. "Buzzie" Bavasi noted Friday.

He spoke at a news conference announcing purchase of the club by Ray A. Kroc, 71-year-old chairman of the McDonald's hamburger chain. The sale is subject to National League approval.

Kroc said reports of a $12 million sale price were "in the ball park."

C. Arnholt Smith paid $10 million for the expansion franchise in 1968 but ran the Padres on a tight budget as his own financial troubles mounted. Last year Smith was forced from control of the keystones of his financial holdings, U.S. National Bank and Westgate-California Corp.

With no television contract, low radio revenues, a limited farm system and little money to buy players, the Padres have finished last every season and never have drawn more than 644,000 fans.

But Bavasi predicted the ownership change would rouse the club out of its doldrums.

"It looks like we'll be able to revive the franchise with this man's spirit and money," he said. "You can pick up secondline players to fill gaps without hesitation. In the past we had to hesitate."

"We're going to give 'em hell," said Kroc, a lifelong baseball fan who has tried for nearly a decade to buy the Chicago Cubs. "I would hope the fans would want out-of-town games to be televised," he said. "I would be satisfied with an attendance of 750,000 this coming season. I hope we can grow from there."

San Diego Mayor Pete Wilson announced agreement on a new stadium lease, and said Kroc had agreed to keep the Padres in San Diego until at least 1980. Kroc said he would pay the indemnity if the team moved.

He said NL President Charles "Chub" Feeney telephoned him Thursday to congratulate him, "So I would assume he has covered it with the National League owners." The meeting is expected next Wednesday in San Francisco.

Pacers Top Memphis

By JOHN NELSON
AP Sports Writer

Indiana forward George McGinnis likes a referee who likes players who like contact. And when he finds one, he reacts accordingly.

"The refereeing in this league has been inconsistent, but tonight they let me play," McGinnis said Friday night. To show his gratitude, he scored 32 points and led the Indiana Pacers to a 121-101 American Basketball Association victory over the Memphis Tams.

Professor Urges Decriminalization

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A University of Chicago professor who says "police have more important things to do than take care of drunks" spoke out for decriminalizing public intoxication Friday.

Norval Morris is a professor of law and criminology at the Chicago school. He was in Columbus to deliver a luncheon address at a conference on "The Effect of the Crime of Intoxication on the Criminal Justice System" at the Battelle Memorial Institute.

The professor said two million arrests a year are made for public drunkenness in the U.S., more than the number of arrests made for all serious crimes of violence and property combined.

Rather than burden police, jails and the court systems with drunk offenders, Morris said he favors "temporary care combined with whatever facilities a community is prepared to make available for treatment on a voluntary basis."

Chairman Selected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Martin Hughes of Cleveland was elected chairman of the Ohio Board of Building Standards Friday. Ronald Smallwood of Dayton was named vice chairman and Helshel Davidson of Columbus, executive secretary.

PICKAWAY COUNTY FARM

Saturday, February 9, 1974

Beginning at 2:30 P.M.

SALE TO BE CONDUCTED ON THE PREMISES

Located 5 miles South of Circleville; 2 miles East of St. Rt. 23 and 1 mile East of Logan Elm State Park on St. Rt. 361. Farm to be offered in three separate tracts and then as a whole and will be sold in the manner which results in the highest sale price.

TRACT 1: Contains approximately 22.3 acres improved with 2 story frame dwelling of Victorian architect with 4 large rooms and bath down, 3 large rooms up, sliding doors between living room and dining room, fireplace in living room and parlor, spiral stairway from front entrance, rear stairway from large kitchen; kitchen has wall cabinets and counter space; large bay window in living room; partial basement. Outbuildings include large horse barn with mortise and pinned hand hewn framing, cattle barn with wood stave silo, scale house and tool shed. Shade provided by maple and sycamore trees.

NOTE: This farm has been in the same family for well over one hundred years. If you have been looking for acreage with a large older home to refurbish and afford your family with country living, don't fail to inspect this farm.

TRACT 2: Containing approximately 34.4 acres lying north of St. Rt. 361 and east of tract 1, all tillable vacant land suitable for the building of a new home with acreage or developed into smaller tracts.

TRACT 3: Containing approximately 107.3 acres of vacant land all tillable located on the south side of St. Rt. 361 which could be plotted in smaller tracts.

NOTE: The above mentioned farm is ideally located in a good agricultural area close to the rapidly developing industrial area of Circleville. Farm is divided by St. Rt. 361 with 107.3 acres on the south side of said highway and the 22.3 acres and 34.4 acres on the north side of said highway and the combined frontage is approximately 4,000 feet. Farm is practically all tillable and in a good state of cultivation, fences fair, drainage average.

TERMS OF SALE: Farm is sold subject to all zoning, government regulations, easement or record and legal highways. A deposit of 10 per cent of purchase price will be required at time of sale, balance of purchase price due upon delivery of deed on or before March 9, 1974. Purchasers assume and agree to pay all taxes due and payable December installment 1974.

If farm should sell as a unit it will be settled for upon the acreage basis described in the present description. Should farm sell in more than one tract, it will be settled for upon the acreage designated in this ad.

Tom Cecchini Joins Iowa

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Coach Tom Cecchini, who lost his job when Xavier dropped football in December, has accepted an assistant coaching job with the University of Iowa.

Cecchini's records in two years at Xavier were 3-8 and 5-5-1.

"It came to a decision between Iowa and Syracuse," said Cecchini who accepted the offer from Iowa's new coach Bob Commings.

EXECUTOR'S
PUBLIC AUCTION
OF 164 ACRE PICKAWAY TWP.,
PICKAWAY COUNTY FARM
Saturday, February 9, 1974
Beginning at 2:30 P.M.

SALE TO BE CONDUCTED ON THE PREMISES

Located 5 miles South of Circleville; 2 miles East of St. Rt. 23 and 1 mile East of Logan Elm State Park on St. Rt. 361. Farm to be offered in three separate tracts and then as a whole and will be sold in the manner which results in the highest sale price.

TRACT 1: Contains approximately 22.3 acres improved with 2 story frame dwelling of Victorian architect with 4 large rooms and bath down, 3 large rooms up, sliding doors between living room and dining room, fireplace in living room and parlor, spiral stairway from front entrance, rear stairway from large kitchen; kitchen has wall cabinets and counter space; large bay window in living room; partial basement. Outbuildings include large horse barn with mortise and pinned hand hewn framing, cattle barn with wood stave silo, scale house and tool shed. Shade provided by maple and sycamore trees.

NOTE: This farm has been in the same family for well over one hundred years. If you have been looking for acreage with a large older home to refurbish and afford your family with country living, don't fail to inspect this farm.

TRACT 2: Containing approximately 34.4 acres lying north of St. Rt. 361 and east of tract 1, all tillable vacant land suitable for the building of a new home with acreage or developed into smaller tracts.

TRACT 3: Containing approximately 107.3 acres of vacant land all tillable located on the south side of St. Rt. 361 which could be plotted in smaller tracts.

NOTE: The above mentioned farm is ideally located in a good agricultural area close to the rapidly developing industrial area of Circleville. Farm is divided by St. Rt. 361 with 107.3 acres on the south side of said highway and the 22.3 acres and 34.4 acres on the north side of said highway and the combined frontage is approximately 4,000 feet. Farm is practically all tillable and in a good state of cultivation, fences fair, drainage average.

TERMS OF SALE: Farm is sold subject to all zoning, government regulations, easement or record and legal highways. A deposit of 10 per cent of purchase price will be required at time of sale, balance of purchase price due upon delivery of deed on or before March 9, 1974. Purchasers assume and agree to pay all taxes due and payable December installment 1974.

If farm should sell as a unit it will be settled for upon the acreage basis described in the present description. Should farm sell in more than one tract, it will be settled for upon the acreage designated in this ad.

OPEN HOUSE: Sunday, January 27, 1974 from 2 to 4 P.M. or inspection by appointment by calling auctioneer.

Tom Cecchini Joins Iowa

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Coach Tom Cecchini, who lost his job when Xavier dropped football in December, has accepted an assistant coaching job with the University of Iowa.

Cecchini's records in two years at Xavier were 3-8 and 5-5-1.

"It came to a decision between Iowa and Syracuse," said Cecchini who accepted the offer from Iowa's new coach Bob Commings.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some of the things you have been able to manage before may be harder to control now. But, with an extra bit of determination you can "make it."

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): This should be a day of fulfillment for you. If you have been patient, you have spared yourself much worry and many uneasy moments. In any event, relax NOW.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Ease up if week was busy. Catch your breath and take a good look where you are headed. Should you change your objectives? Or your tactics? A time for thought.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Lunar influences now stimulate your imagination, give you ideas for making the most of presently latent possibliities for future gains.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Seek relief from strenuous endeavor. You can dull your senses and enthusiasm if you press too hard. That old "happy medium" offers the best solution.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): An elegant day in part, taxing during some moments. But then, Virgoans know how to benefit by advantages and hurdle the obstacles — often in a fascinating way.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Artistry, featuring the unusual that has intrinsic value, and everyday common sense stand out as winners here. Others can benefit by your exceptional know-how.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): What is expedient may not be best for all concerned, so be careful of the route you select. Take nothing for granted.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Some influences are friendly, others less so. The, latter can lead you into careless thinking and action if you are not on guard. Give thought to past experience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): That word "cooperation" pops up again. It will apply strongly where people mingle and ideas mix. In group discussions, give careful consideration to all viewpoints.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Count on your intellect and intuition, of course, but also dig for accurate information and strive to learn whether there is a new or improved method that could help you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Do not fret over delays or disappointments. Meet obstacles with composure: You can overcome them all.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an extremely alert mind; are always ready for action, willing to take on responsibility, no matter how difficult. You are progressive in your thinking and could become a leader in almost any field of your choice. The Aquarian excels in journalism, the graphic arts, advertising, promotion and the theater. Witty and endowed with a magnetic personality, he could become a top-flight lecturer. Birthdate of: W. A. Cherished Hope Wins Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Favored Cherished Hope broke from eighth at the top of the stretch to win the $4,000 featured eighth race by four lengths in 1:10 over five furlongs Friday night.

The winner returned $4.40, $4 and $3.40. Deleterious placed, paying $5.80 and $3.80 and Rachel's Pleasure was third for $4.20.

Indians Report More Signings

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Tribe is assured of its first 16 players for the 1974 season. A Cleveland Indians spokesman says four more pitchers' signed contracts are in hand.

Southpaws Terry Ley and Brent Strom and righthanders Tom Hilgendorf and Ray Lamb turned in their pacts this week.

Atlanta, Detroit Tie In Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If a tie is as dull as kissing your sister, then both Atlanta's Boom Boom Geoffrion and Detroit's Alex Delvecchio must have gorgeous sisters.

"I was very pleased with this game," Geoffrion said following the Flames' 2-2 National Hockey League standoff with the Red Wings Friday night.

Hemlocks commonly get their start in the acidic remains of fallen trees.

The removal of a mature forest leaves a tundra-like landscape.

Waldrop Wins Millrose Mile

NEW YORK (AP) — Tony Waldrop, an unheralded 22-year-old with a North Carolina drawl, maintained an air of unabashed modesty while fans and competitors marveled at his brilliant victory in the mile run at the Wanamaker Millrose Games.

Waldrop, in his first year attempting the mile after spending 2½ seasons racing other distance events, registered the first sub-four-minute mile in the 57-year history of the Millrose Games Friday night when he caught favored Marty Liquori on the final turn and finished in 3:59.7 at Madison Square Garden.

The Pan American Games were first held in Buenos Aires in 1951.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Some of the things you have been able to manage before may be harder to control now. But, with an extra bit of determination you can "make it."

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): This should be a day of fulfillment for you. If you have been patient, you have spared yourself much worry and many uneasy moments. In any event, relax NOW.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Ease up if week was busy. Catch your breath and take a good look where you are headed. Should you change your objectives? Or your tactics? A time for thought.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Lunar influences now stimulate your imagination, give you ideas for making the most of presently latent possibliities for future gains.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Seek relief from strenuous endeavor. You can dull your senses and enthusiasm if you press too hard. That old "happy medium" offers the best solution.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): An elegant day in part, taxing during some moments. But then, Virgoans know how to benefit by advantages and hurdle the obstacles — often in a fascinating way.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Artistry, featuring the unusual that has intrinsic value, and everyday common sense stand out as winners here. Others can benefit by your exceptional know-how.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): What is expedient may not be best for all concerned, so be careful of the route you select. Take nothing for granted.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Some influences are friendly, others less so. The, latter can lead you into careless thinking and action if you are not on guard. Give thought to past experience.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): That word "cooperation" pops up again. It will apply strongly where people mingle and ideas mix. In group discussions, give careful consideration to all viewpoints.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Count on your intellect and intuition, of course, but also dig for accurate information and strive to learn whether there is a new or improved method that could help you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Do not fret over delays or disappointments. Meet obstacles with composure: You can overcome them all.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with an extremely alert mind; are always ready for action, willing to take on responsibility, no matter how difficult. You are progressive in your thinking and could become a leader in almost any field of your choice. The Aquarian excels in journalism, the graphic arts, advertising, promotion and the theater. Witty and endowed with a magnetic personality, he could become a top-flight lecturer. Birthdate of: W. A. Cherished Hope Wins Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Favored Cherished Hope broke from eighth at the top of the stretch to win the $4,000 featured eighth race by four lengths in 1:10 over five furlongs Friday night.

The winner returned $4.40, $4 and $3.40. Deleterious placed, paying $5.80 and $3.80 and Rachel's Pleasure was third for $4.20.

Indians Report More Signings

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Tribe is assured of its first 16 players for the 1974 season. A Cleveland Indians spokesman says four more pitchers' signed contracts are in hand.

Southpaws Terry Ley and Brent Strom and righthanders Tom Hilgendorf and Ray Lamb turned in their pacts this week.

Atlanta, Detroit Tie In Contest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If a tie is as dull as kissing your sister, then both Atlanta's Boom Boom Geoffrion and Detroit's Alex Delvecchio must have gorgeous sisters.

"I was very pleased with this game," Geoffrion said following the Flames' 2-2 National Hockey League standoff with the Red Wings Friday night.

Well, after weeks and in some cases months of waiting for materials to arrive, things are beginning to go together at our home. What a joy it is to walk on carpeted floors instead of the bare wood flooring! How nice to have dishes in kitchen cupboards and not in boxes and how much nicer it will be when all the cupboards arrive and are installed. The waiting is not completely over but at least it is a bit more bearable. Wonder who is happier — us or our tenants in our former home who have had to contend with yet to be moved heavy pieces of furniture.

Mrs. Raymond (Marvine) Kneece is again a patient in Grant Hospital, Room 804, Columbus, and expects to undergo surgery after a "build-up". She entered last Tuesday and we encourage her many friends and all others to deluge her with cards. Her son Brad who is stationed at Fort Hood, Texas, was just home recently on leave when his mother was hospitalized a few weeks ago.

Those who attended Sorosis on Monday evening were privileged to hear Becki Easterday and Rick Metzger speak on their experiences at the Ohio Institute of Drugs and Alcohol held this past summer at Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware. Following their information and provocative discussion the two Westfall seniors answered a great many questions posed by the Sorosis members.

Mrs. John West, president, presided at the business session during which a donation was voted to be given to Christmas seals and also to once again sponsor a Westfall junior as a delegate to Buckeye Girls State.

A letter from the Ohio Nature Conservancy thanked the club for their contribution to the Stages Pond project and the letter also informed the club that the amount contributed made them eligible for membership in the Conservancy for a period of one year.

Mrs. Glen(Bev)Whitten, chairman of the nominating committee, had presented the following slate of officers to Mrs. West for acceptance for the club year 1974-75: Mrs. Jim (Jeanine) Hamman, president; Mrs. John (Edna) West, first vice president; Mrs. Robert (Betty) Shaeffer, second vice pres.; Mrs. William (Anabel) Rhinesmith, third vice pres.; Mrs. Fred (Esta) Tipton, Secretary; Mrs. Gerald (Doris) Reynolds, treasurer.

The Morning Glories Bowling league at Circle D back in full force on Tuesday mornings after a bit of a holiday lull. Yours truly's team, the L-K, was still on top of the heap as of last Tuesday but there is the possibility we were dethroned at the end of that day's fun. We shall see this coming Tuesday. I am not much of a bowler but my teammates Helen Ford, Candy Arledge and Sharon Weethee keep that ball going in the right direction. This is my first time to ever be in a league, in fact, it is my first time to bowl more than once or twice a year but it will not be my last. I heartily encourage each and everyone to become involved with the sport. Great fun and relaxation!

Farm Products Hurt By Pinch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Minnesota congressman warned Friday night that American farm product prices on both foreign and domestic markets are threatened by the fuel crisis and the uncertainty of next year's world commodity market.

Speaking at the Ohio farmers Union convention, Rep. Bob Bergland suggested these "minimum policy changes" to protect American producers:

—Putting into effect this fall an escalator clause on target prices "to reflect immediate increased production costs related to the energy crisis, including both fuels and fertilizer."

—Basing allotments on the history of the last three crop years "instead of base periods 13 to 15 years out of date."

The Minnesota Democrat urged farmers to "respond to the call" for all-out production this year to help offset inevitable balance of payments deficits caused by increased prices for imported oil.

Bergland, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, emphasized the "vicious circumstances" which require increased exports at the same time that normal import customers are short of cash.

"Last year we committed half our food and fibre production to exports that were a major factor in offsetting the balance of payments deficits created by importing one-third of our petroleum needs," he said.

"This year, assuming no increse in demand, the oil that cost $7 billion last year will be priced closer to $20 billion. At the same time, our foreign customers will have to divert some of their food importing funds to pay for increased oil costs," he said.

Juvenile Court Cases Heard By Judge Cline

The County Prosecutor and his assistant appeared in Pickaway County Juvenile Court last week settling cases involving nine delinquent youths, one traffic offender and three neglected children.

Four youths faced felony charges before Judge Guy G. Cline which had been filed by the Fairfield County Sheriff's Department. The court found a 17-year-old girl, two 16-year-old girls and one 16-year-old boy to be delinquent on charges of breaking and entering. Each was placed on probation indefinitely.

The girls were from the Circleville area and the boy resides at Route 1, Ashville. The 17-year-old girl and one of the 16-year-old girls also faced charges of truancy.

Truancy charges brought indefinite probation to another Circleville girl, age 14.

A 17-year-old Route 5, Circleville boy was sentenced to the permanent care of the Ohio Youth Commission after being convicted of a charge of forgery filed by Sgt. Larry Pontious of the Circleville Police Department. Another charge of violation of probation was also brought against the boy.

The court declared a 17-year-old Lockbourne girl delinquent and sentenced her to the temporary care of the Ohio Youth commission for violation of probation.

Probation arising from assault and battery and violation of probation charges against a 17-year-old Ashville boy were released because he had entered the United States Navy.

Consuming liquor and intoxication charges brought a $10 fine and costs to a 17-year-old Route 2, South Point boy.

Three children, ages 10, 12 and 13, were placed with their father under the supervision of the Pickaway County Children's Services.

Mark Lutz, 16, Route 2, Circleville, had his license suspended for six months on a 1971 charge of operating a motor vehicle without a valid operator's license.

2 Auto Fires Reported

The Circleville Fire Department responded to two calls Friday involving auto fires.

At 6:36 p.m., they answered a call from the police department and dispatched to the corner of Court and Main Streets. An automobile owned by Mike Overly, Route 3, had backfired through the carburetor. No visible damage was reported.

Another backfire through the carburetor caused a flame in the car owned by Elijah Brown, 202 E. Logan St.

The call was answered at 10:15 p.m. at the Pontious Lane-Route 22 intersection. Firemen estimated the damages to the auto to be $20.

Thieves Enter Scioto Vending

Thieves took 140 cartons of cigarettes during a breaking and entering at the Scioto Coca Cola Vending Co. in New Holland.

Reported by Dave Hurley, manager, to Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities, the theft occurred Thursday or Friday.

Gaining entry through a fresh air duct, the thieves ransacked the office, store room and garage taking only the cigarettes.

Sheriff's Deputy Warren Straley estimated the value of the cigarettes at $450.

State Collects Record $9.2 Million Claims

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William Brown's office reported Friday it collected a record $9.2 million in claims by the state during 1973.

The previous high collections of unpaid sales, franchise and highway use taxes was $8.8 million in 1972.

NEA Wins Victory In U.S. Supreme Court Over Mandatory Maternity Leave Policy

WASHINGTON, D.C. — "Female teachers won a significant and well-deserved victory Monday when the U.S. Supreme Court struck down mandatory maternity leave provisions set by school boards," Dr. Helen D. Wise, president of the National Education Association, declared. Dr. Wise credited the long-term fight on the issue by NEA and its affiliated state education associations for wins in the cases not only for teachers but probably also for other female public employees.

The high court ruled 7 to 2 that such mandatory leave-of-absence provisions, regardless of an individual's ability to continue work, violated the 14th Amendment's guarantee of due process of law.

The Supreme Court heard and ruled jointly on two conflicting cases involving teachers from Cleveland and Chesterfield County, Va., who were forced to leave their teaching jobs at their fourth and fifth months of pregnancy, respectively. NEA paid legal fees and filed briefs at various court levels on behalf of Cleveland teachers Jo Carol LaFleur and Ann Elizabeth Nelson and Virginia teacher Susan Cohen.

"The ruling means," said Dr. Wise, "that pregnant teachers who can work and want to work will no longer be compelled to leave their jobs a specified number of months before the scheduled birth. The educational process will be enhanced by this ruling since teachers free from unreasonable restrictions are better able to provide the type of instruction that parents, teachers, and students want.

"NEA has pioneered the fight on the maternity leave and sex discrimination issues on many fronts. Today's ruling encourages NEA to continue its efforts to attack sex discrimination in other areas, such as sex role stereotyping in textbooks, failure to promote women teachers with qualifications equal to men, and antinepotism practices that cause the female spouse to lose her job."

The high court concluded that the two arguments school boards provided for mandatory leave policies in these cases—firm cut-off dates are necessary to maintain continuity of classroom instruction, and some teachers become physically incapable of adequately performing certain of their duties during the latter part of pregnancy—cannot justify the sweeping mandatory leave regulations which "employ irrebuttable presumptions that unduly penalize a female teacher for deciding to bear a child."

The court noted that many teachers are capable of working, that administrative reasons alone are inadequate to deny a woman her rights, and that the arbitrary cut-off dates "have no rational relationship to the valid state interest of preserving continuity of instruction." "As long as the teacher is required to give substantial advance notice of her condition," the court continued, "the choice of firm dates later in pregnancy would serve the boards' objectives just as well, while imposing a far lesser burden on the women's exercise of constitutionally protected freedom."

The majority opinion was written by Justice Potter Stewart. Chief Justice Warren Burger and Justice William Rehnquist, appointees of President Nixon, cast the two dissenting votes in the case.

Local Man Arrested On DWI, Drug Charges

David J. Bowers, 22, 815 Arbor Road, was arrested by city police 1:45 a.m. Saturday on charges of driving while intoxicated and possession of marijuana.

He was booked into city jail and released on $500 bond on each count Saturday morning, pending his appearance 10 a.m. Monday in Circleville Municipal Court.

Ptl. Ronald Thompson and Cletus Arnold stopped Bowers' car at Arbor Road and Route 188 after noticing it was being operated in a suspicious manner.

Bowers was brought to the police station where he was booked on the driving while intoxicated charge.

A bag of weed-like substance resembling marijuana was found in Bowers' pocket during a routine search by the police.

He then consented to a search of his vehicle which turned up a bag of suspected marijuana, a bag of suspected marijuana cigarettes and a bag of suspected marijuana seeds.

Sgt. Jerry Smallwood ran a field test on the suspected substances which showed positive. Bowers was then also charged on the marijuana count.

Well, after weeks and in some cases months of waiting for materials to arrive, things are beginning to go together at our home. What a joy it is to walk on carpeted floors instead of the bare wood flooring! How nice to have dishes in kitchen cupboards and not in boxes and how much nicer it will be when all the cupboards arrive and are installed. The waiting is not completely over but at least it is a bit more bearable. Wonder who is happier — us or our tenants in our former home who have had to contend with yet to be moved heavy pieces of furniture.

Farm Products Hurt By Pinch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Minnesota congressman warned Friday night that American farm product prices on both foreign and domestic markets are threatened by the fuel crisis and the uncertainty of next year's world commodity market.

Speaking at the Ohio farmers Union convention, Rep. Bob Bergland suggested these "minimum policy changes" to protect American producers:

—Putting into effect this fall an escalator clause on target prices "to reflect immediate increased production costs related to the energy crisis, including both fuels and fertilizer."

—Basing allotments on the history of the last three crop years "instead of base periods 13 to 15 years out of date."

The Minnesota Democrat urged farmers to "respond to the call" for all-out production this year to help offset inevitable balance of payments deficits caused by increased prices for imported oil.

Bergland, a member of the House Agriculture Committee, emphasized the "vicious circumstances" which require increased exports at the same time that normal import customers are short of cash.

"Last year we committed half our food and fibre production to exports that were a major factor in offsetting the balance of payments deficits created by importing one-third of our petroleum needs," he said.

"This year, assuming no increse in demand, the oil that cost $7 billion last year will be priced closer to $20 billion. At the same time, our foreign customers will have to divert some of their food importing funds to pay for increased oil costs," he said.
